Yoga teaching and booking guide

This guide is for yoga teachers and studio owners using the SynthYoga app (also called the Yoga app).
It covers everything you can do as a teacher:

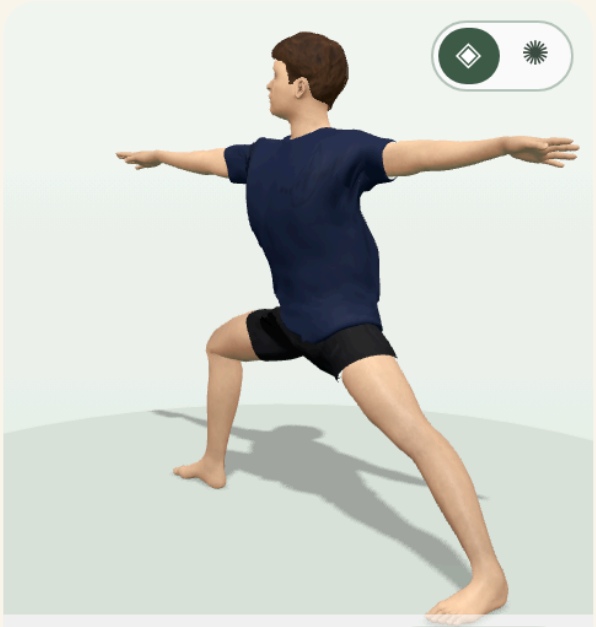

- getting listed and choosing your teacher plan;
- coaching private students, and charging them by card;
- writing your blog and printing handouts;
- running classes and ticketed events, taking bookings and selling passes;
- running a studio with a team.

Button and screen names in bold are what you'll see in the app.

Sign in with Google or Apple and click the profile icon in the top right to explore your coaching desk.

SynthYoga is a timed yoga practice app. People use it to build and play routines from a large pose library, with spoken cues and a timer for home practice. They can explore and manipulate poses in 3D and access other learning materials including Sanskrit, muscle exploration, and blogs and other education content.

Your listing, class bookings, coaching and blog sit in that same app — so you can deliver educational content and class management in a single place.

Start here

This guide is for teachers and studio owners. Button names in bold match the app.

Words for people

- client — someone who books classes or events with you.
- coaching student — someone you coach one-to-one.
- Customers — the desk tab that holds contact records for both.

Two paths (use either or both):

1. Classes and events — schedule, booking page, passes, roster.
2. 1:1 coaching — invites, seats, assignments in the app.

After you're approved, the in-app setup guide on Teach walks through Stripe, studio, passes and your first class. Reopen it with Run setup again on the Coach desk.

SynthYoga began as a practice tool and grew into an open library of about 290 3D poses. The teaching tools exist so studios can support their community at minimum cost — or even free. On Starter we charge 1% on top of payment-processing fees; paid plans are cheaper still. For plan fees and how we stack up on price, see Your teacher plan and How we compare.

Interest	What you get
Knowledge	Learn articles, Sanskrit, muscles and a 3D pose library students can study with you. The poses are open data you can help refine.
Directory	A free listing, searchable by region. Free community classes cost nothing to run on every plan.
Bookings	Your own booking page for classes and ticketed events, passes, waitlists, policies and Stripe payouts. Starter is free; Studio is A$15 a month with no platform fee. See How we compare.
Coaching	One-to-one plans with assigned home practice in the same app students already use.
Engagement	Shareable routines with spoken cues; Practice Together syncs phones in the room.
Printables	A4 handouts of your listing, schedule, events, routines, poses and blog posts, plus SynthYoga marketing PDFs and this teaching guide.
Class swaps	Let the people you coach come to your paid classes free, and swap a few free places a month with other yoga teachers.

Two ways to work with people (you can use either or both):

- Coaching — ongoing one-to-one work with a coaching student (routines and programs). Each uses a seat on your teacher plan; on Starter, students who pay by card through Stripe don't.
- Classes, events and bookings — in-person groups and ticketed workshops. People book with just an email address. They are your clients and never use coaching seats.

Your booking page shows only you (or your studio). Reminders, waitlists and no-shows run themselves. Every feature is on every plan.

Install, sign in, Teach

1. Install SynthYoga (the Yoga app), or use the web version at yoga.synthfit.online.
2. Sign in with Google or Apple. On the website and in the app you can create a listing with either login. Apple on the web is fine for Teach and booking; personal practice sync (routines and history) on the web still needs Google Drive (Settings → Cloud Sync). See Google and Apple logins.
3. Open Teach → Profile and fill in your listing. If you signed in with Apple, enter a contact email students should use (Hide My Email is fine) — that becomes your public listing address.

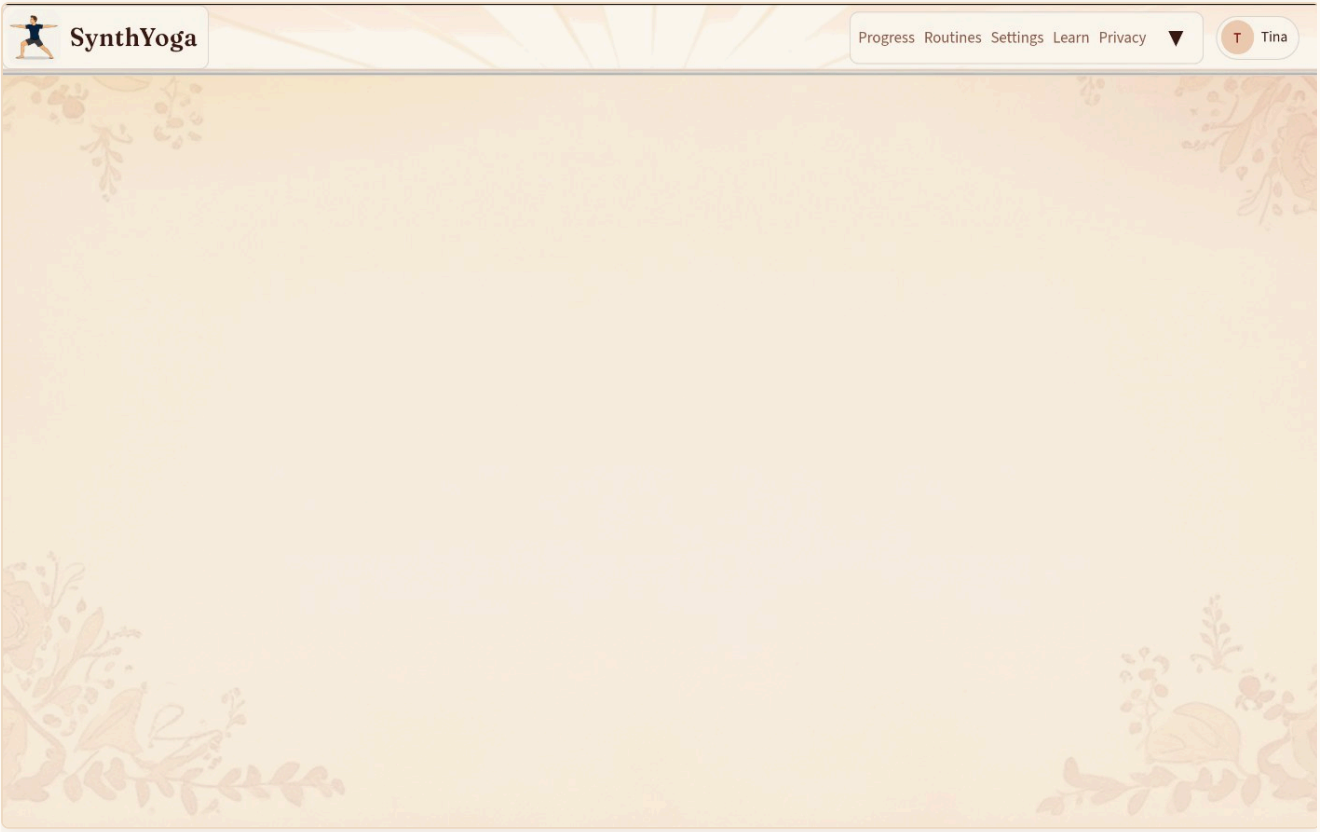

The Teach screen

Teach has two tabs:

- Coach desk: where you manage customers, classes, events, coaching, blog, routines and printables. Once you're approved, Teach opens here. The account line at the top shows your plan, seats, Stripe status, Run setup again, and Upgrade / Manage plan.
- Profile: your listing details (name, About you, photo, contact).

The top of the Coach desk always shows:

- your plan, with Run setup again and Upgrade or Manage plan;
- your seat meter, for example "4 of 10 coaching students" (on Starter, also "2 paying by card (no limit)");
- your card payments status: Stripe connected, Stripe setup not finished or Not set up.

The setup guide

The first time you open Teach after approval, a setup guide walks through the basics. Steps you already finished (for example Stripe already connected, or a studio already created) are skipped:

1. Card payments (optional). Set up Stripe if students or class bookings will pay by card.
2. Studio. Name, solo or studio, and time zone — only if you don't have bookings set up yet.
3. Location. Where you teach (and an optional room).
4. Staff (optional). Invite one helper. Skipped on Starter (upgrade to invite staff).
5. Pass prices (optional). One table for a drop-in, 5- and 10-class packs, an intro offer and unlimited membership (same range as the sample studio). Prefills sample prices, or your existing prices if you already sell passes. Needs Stripe to create new ones; you can still edit existing prices without it.
6. Do you want to offer coaching? Choose Yes, take coaching students or Not now.
7. Coaching student plan (optional). Shown if coaching is on. Needs Stripe.
8. Your first class. Optionally put a free class on the schedule.
9. You're set up.

Any step can be skipped with Skip for now or Finish later. Closing the guide counts as finishing it. If you leave for Stripe onboarding, the guide resumes when you return. You can change Offer coaching later under Coach desk → Coaching, check Stripe on the Coach desk account line, or run the guide again with Run setup again (next to Manage plan on the Coach desk).

Listing and approval

Your listing

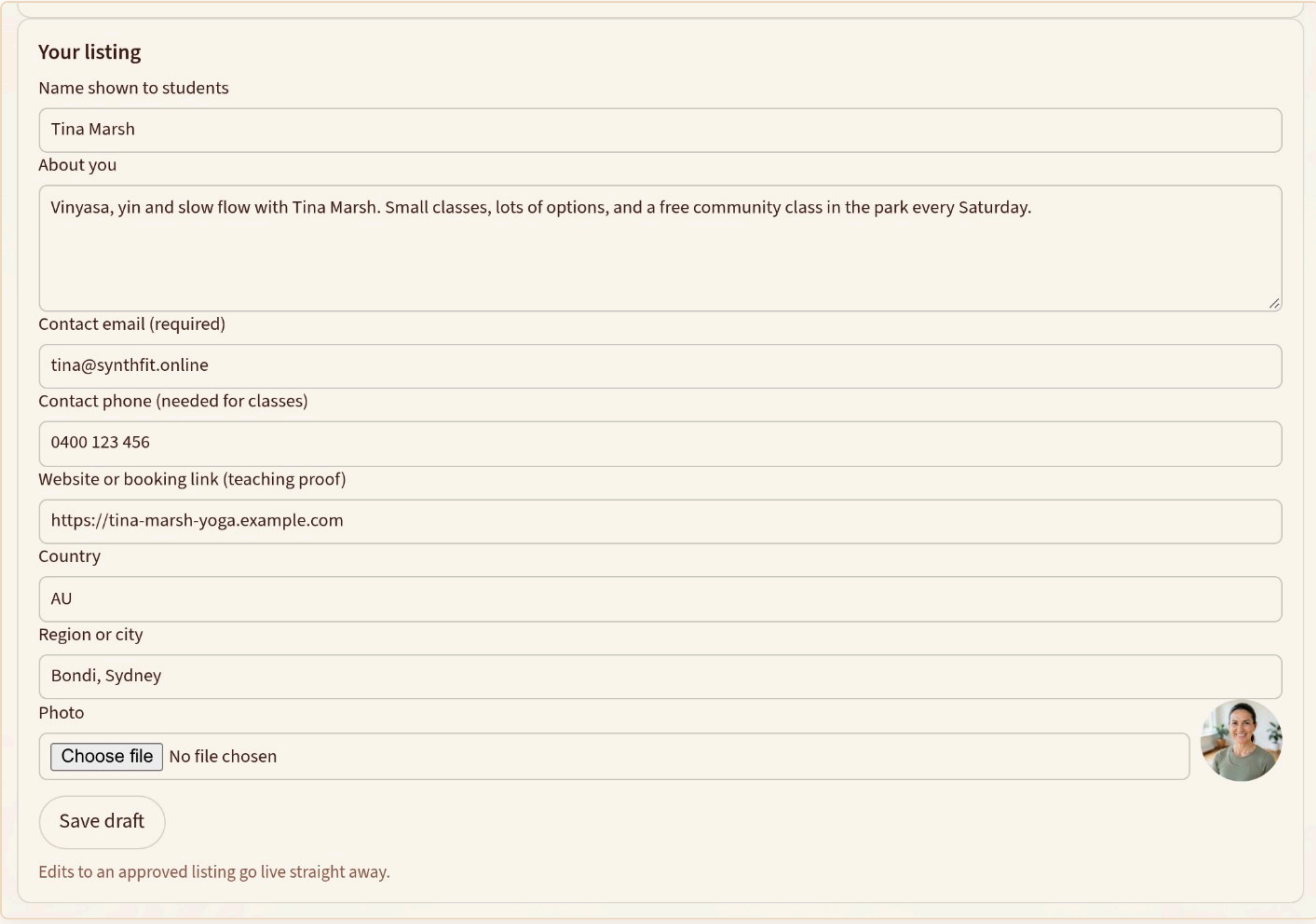

Do this

1. Open Teach → Profile.
2. Fill in Your listing (fields below).
3. Tap Save draft to keep it private, or Submit for approval when teaching proof is ready.

You're done when the status line shows Submitted: waiting for approval or Approved: you are listed.

Open Teach → Profile and fill in Your listing. A few fields matter for approval and search:

- About you — at least 40 characters (up to 280); keep links to two or fewer for automatic approval.
- Website or booking link — a normal web address, not a link shortener (bit.ly, tinyurl). Counts as teaching proof.
- Evidence of your teaching — if you have no website, add up to 5 links or uploads (studio page, Instagram, registry, flyer or certificate as image/PDF). Cleared after approval.
- Photo — required to save or submit; the app shrinks it for you.
- Contact phone (needed for classes) — shown on your listing and printables; fill it in if you run bookings.
- Country and Region or city — used for directory search.

- Save draft keeps your listing private. The server needs a name, email, About you and photo even for a draft. Drafts that are never submitted may be cleaned up eventually.
- Submit for approval sends it in. You need a website and/or teaching evidence before the button works.

How approval works

Do this — submit a clear listing; most go live automatically when they meet the rules below.

Most clear listings go live straight away. Automatic approval needs all of these:

- name 80 characters or less;
- About you at least 40 characters, with no more than 2 links;
- a photo;
- teaching proof: a normal website and/or at least one evidence link or file;
- nothing that looks like spam;
- you've never had a listing turned down.

Anything else is held for a person, usually within a few days. Held applications get an admin research report (public pages and the evidence you attached) to help the review. We may also spot-check listings that were approved automatically.

The status line at the top of Profile tells you where you are: Draft: not submitted yet, Submitted: waiting for approval, Approved: you are listed, or Not approved, with the reason.

Changing an approved listing: edits save straight away. Students' copies of the app refresh the teacher directory about every 5 minutes, so allow a short wait for changes to show.

Words we use

- Studio: your business in the booking system. A solo teacher is simply a studio with one teacher.
- Class: a repeating class such as "Tuesday 6pm Vinyasa".
- Event: a ticketed workshop or one-off (under Coach desk → Events), sold with its own event ticket rather than a class pack.
- Session: a single occurrence of a class or event, such as "Vinyasa on Tuesday 4 November".
- Client: anyone who books with you. In the desk UI the Customers tab holds their records.
- Coaching student: someone you coach one-to-one.
- Pass: something a client has bought and uses to book a class: a drop-in, a class pack, a membership or an intro offer. Ticketed events use a separate event ticket.
- Student plan: a weekly or monthly price you set for coaching, paid by card through Stripe.

Quick win: put a free class on the schedule

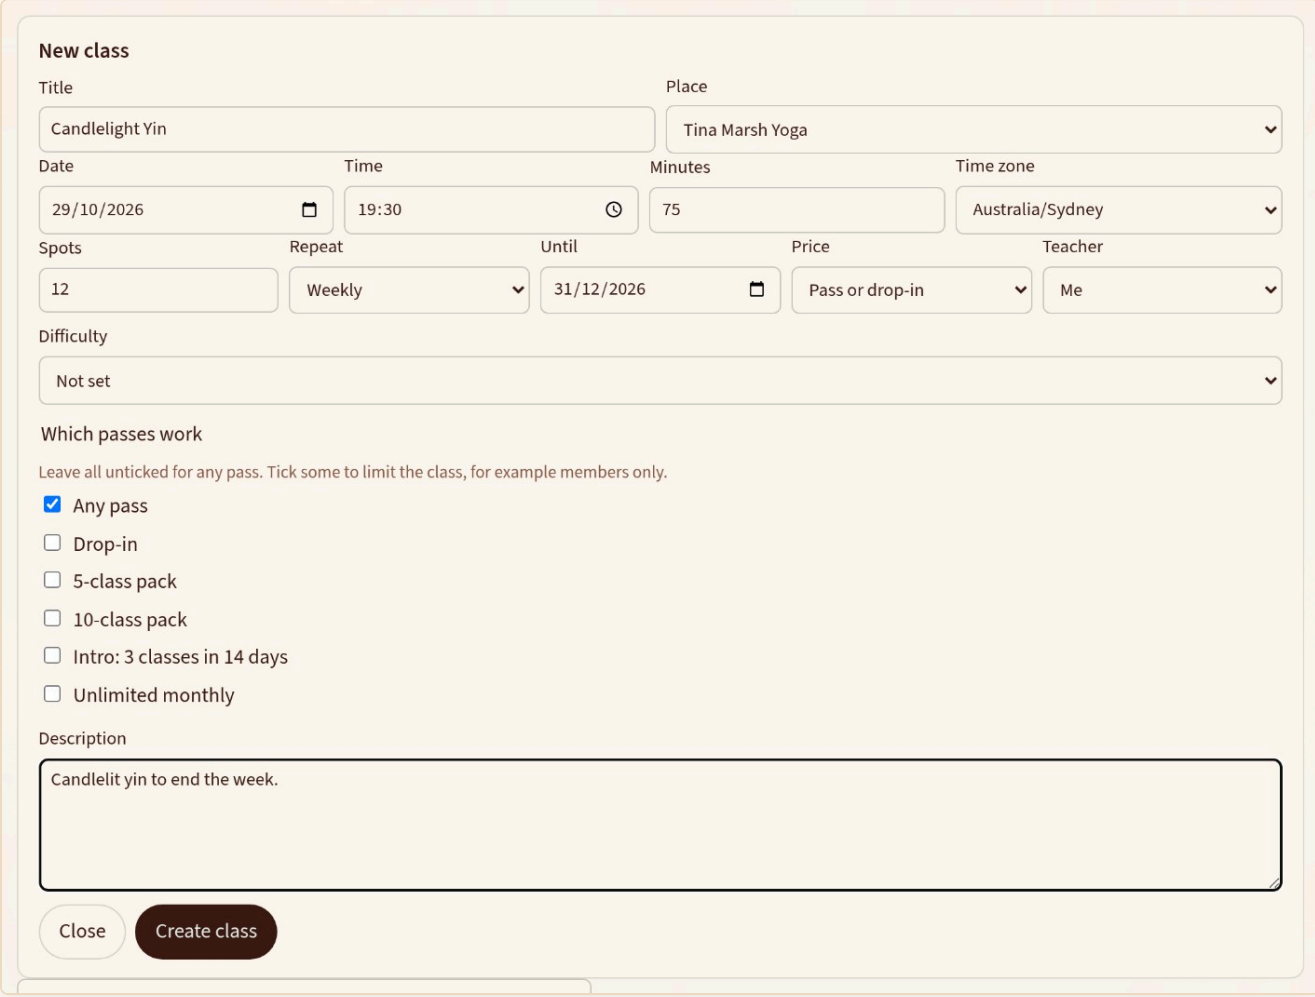

Get one free class live and share your booking link before Stripe or paid passes.

Do this

1. Finish Listing and approval so Teach opens the Coach desk.
2. If you have no studio yet, complete Studio and Location in the setup guide (or Coach desk → Classes → Set up bookings).
3. Open Classes → Schedule → New class.
4. Set Price to Free, pick place/time/spots, tap Create class.
5. Open Page, copy your booking-page link, and share it.

You're done when the class appears on your public booking page and people can tap Book.

Paid passes: Passes and desk sales. Card payouts: Stripe and getting paid.

Bookings setup

Regular class bookings live in Coach desk → Classes. Ticketed workshops and one-offs live under Coach desk → Events (see Events).

- If you're a listed teacher, a solo studio is created for you automatically, named after your listing.
- Otherwise you'll see Set up bookings. Enter a Name, choose Solo teacher or Studio, pick your Time zone, and tap Create.

You can own up to 3 studios. If you belong to more than one, a Studio menu at the top switches between them.

Coach desk map

Top-level Coach desk tabs:

Tab	What it's for
Customers	Contact hub for people who book classes or events, or coach with you (export/import, phone and email).
Classes	Your booking desk: Schedule, Pricing (passes and memberships), Staff, Page, Locations, Private, Settings and Reports (see Setting up bookings).
Events	Ticketed workshops and one-offs: Schedule, Pricing (event tickets), and Reports (event attendance, event teaching hours, and ticket sales only — not regular classes). Events sell on the same public booking page as classes.
Coaching	Students and invites. Inside it: Clients, Pending, Pricing (Stripe payouts and plans your coaching students pay), and Invite link.
Blog	Your blog posts (see Your blog).
Routines & poses	Your own routines and poses (and multi-week programs), made in the Builder.
Printables	A4 handouts of your listing, schedule, routines, poses and blog posts (see Printables).

Your teacher plan (Starter / Studio / Unlimited / Studio Plus) opens from Upgrade / Manage plan at the top of the desk. Classes and Events need an internet connection.

Inside Classes (the booking desk):

Tab	What it's for
Schedule	Your week of classes (list or calendar view): create, edit, cancel, open the roster.
Pricing	Drop-ins, packs, memberships and intro offers you sell (the panel heading is still Passes).
Staff	Your team and their roles.
Page	Your public booking-page link, Update page now, class calendar feed, and website embed code.
Locations	Places, addresses and rooms with spot counts (capped by your teacher plan).
Private	One-to-one session availability (buffers, notice and price).
Settings	Studio details (name, link name, currency, About, photo, design template), policies, waiver, mobile number on booking, questions for new clients, coaching students and class swaps, and Your data (full archive).

Tab	What it's for
Reports	Attendance, teaching hours, revenue, outstanding credits, expiring passes and lapsed clients.

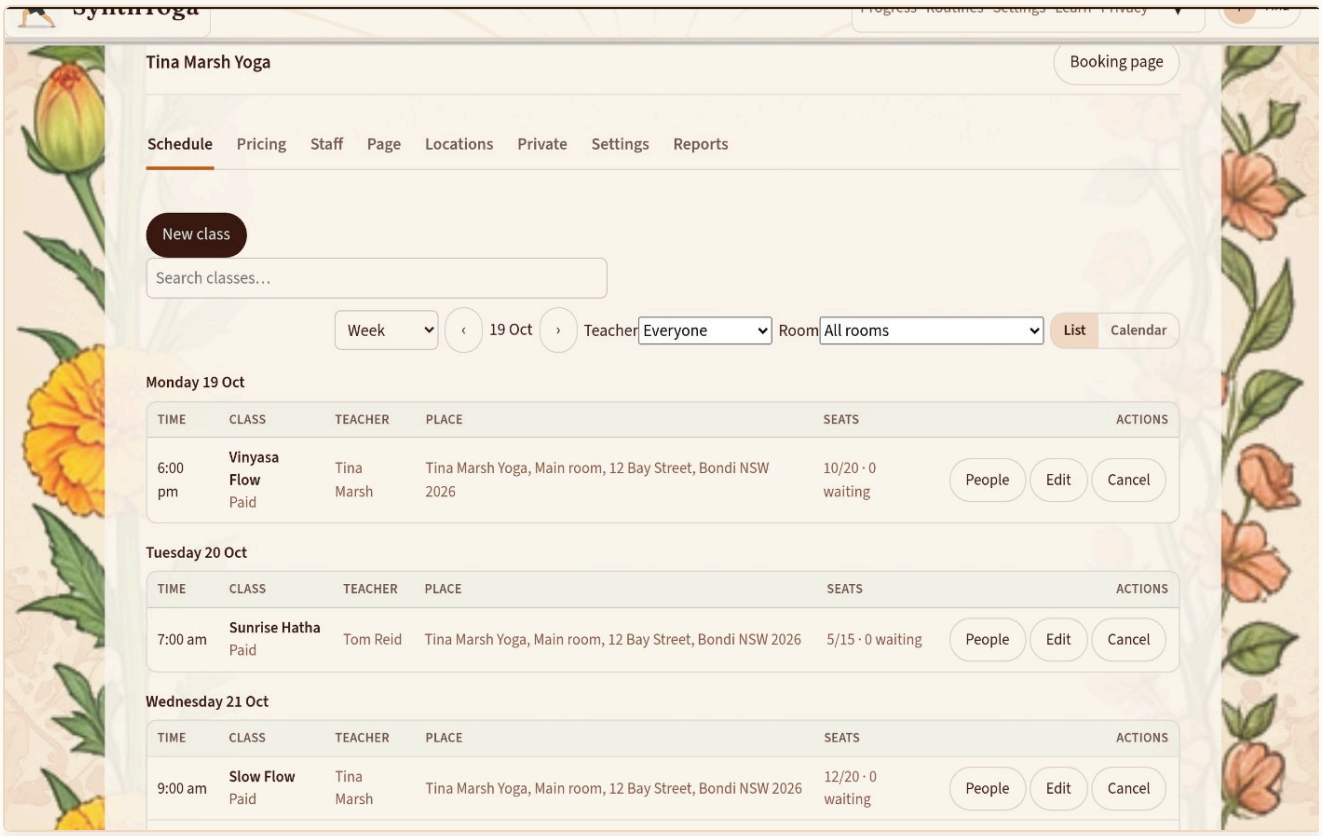

Customers is its own top-level coach-desk tab (before Classes): contact details for people who book classes or events, or coach with you, with export and import. See Your clients.

Printables is the last top-level coach-desk tab (after Routines & poses) for A4 handouts of your listing, schedule, routines, poses and blog posts. See Printables.

A Booking page button at the top opens your public page. What each person sees depends on their role (see Team roles).

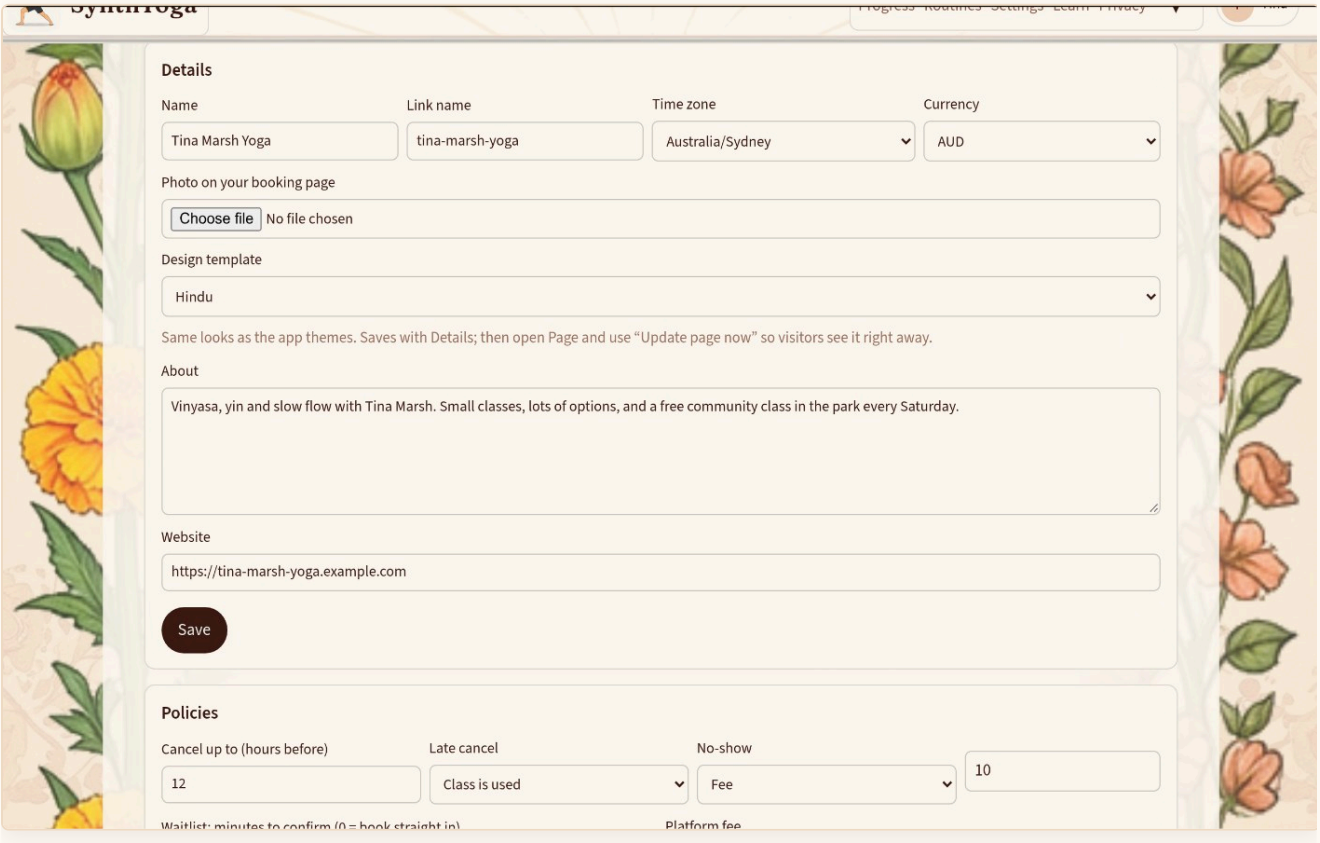

First settings checklist

Work through these once bookings are set up:

1. Settings → Details: Name, Link name (your booking page address), Currency, About, Website, a Photo on your booking page, and the design template (also used by Printables).

2. Settings → Policies: your cancel window, late-cancel and no-show rules, waitlist and platform fee (see Policies).
3. Waiver, if you use one.
4. Mobile number on booking, if you want clients to leave a mobile before their first booking (off, optional, or required).
5. Questions for new clients, if you want to know about injuries or goals before someone's first class.
6. Locations tab: add at least one place and room.
7. Page tab: copy your link and tap Update page now after you change Details.
8. Stripe — see Stripe and getting paid if you'll sell by card.
9. Coaching students and class swaps (under Settings) — see Coaching ↔ classes if you coach.

Studios created automatically for listed teachers start with a cancel window of 0 hours, meaning no late cancels. Set your own window if you want one.

Add places under Locations (see also Locations and rooms).

Stripe and getting paid

One Stripe account covers class passes, event tickets, and coaching student plans. Setup lives under Coach desk → Coaching → Pricing (even if you only sell classes).

Setting up Stripe

Do this

1. Go to Coach desk → Coaching → Pricing.
2. Under Stripe payouts, pick the Country your business is based in, then Set up Stripe.
3. Complete Stripe's business and bank details.
4. When you return, tap Refresh if needed. Use Finish Stripe setup until the desk shows Stripe connected.
5. Optionally use Open Stripe dashboard for payments, refunds, payouts and disputes.

You're done when the Coach desk account line shows Stripe connected.

Notes

Platform fee rules follow Your teacher plan and Fees.

- Every feature is on every plan; plans differ only in the rows above. That includes:
  - booking page and passes;
  - payments and waitlists;
  - policies and reminders;
  - calendars and reports;
  - import from another system.
- Prices are in Australian dollars and include GST. In the App Store and Google Play you pay the store's price for your region, which can differ slightly.
- Starter can take payments, so you can sell your first class pack with no monthly cost. Once you sell more than about A$1,500 a month, Studio costs less than Starter's 1% fee.
- Booking and location caps: every plan has them (Starter 1,000 / 1 location; Studio 3,000 / 3; Unlimited 10,000 / 12; Studio Plus 50,000 / 50). The desk warns you when you are close, and new bookings and new locations are blocked once you hit the cap until you upgrade or the month resets. Existing bookings stay. Past Studio Plus, new bookings stay blocked and we can raise your caps by hand.
- Assignment email caps: sending a routine or program by email (including custom poses) counts toward the daily limits in the table. Oversized routines are rejected; claim links expire after 7 days. Upgrade if you hit the daily limit.
- Invite email caps: emailing your coaching invite link to any address uses the invite limits in the table (plus at most two emails to the same address per day). The email includes your photo, studio colours and coaching prices when you have plans set.
- Seats count coaching students only. Clients who book classes never use a seat, and nor do pending requests. On Starter, coaching students who pay you by Stripe subscription don't use one either, so you can grow coaching on the free plan and pay only the 1%. See Seats for the details.

Choosing, changing and cancelling your plan

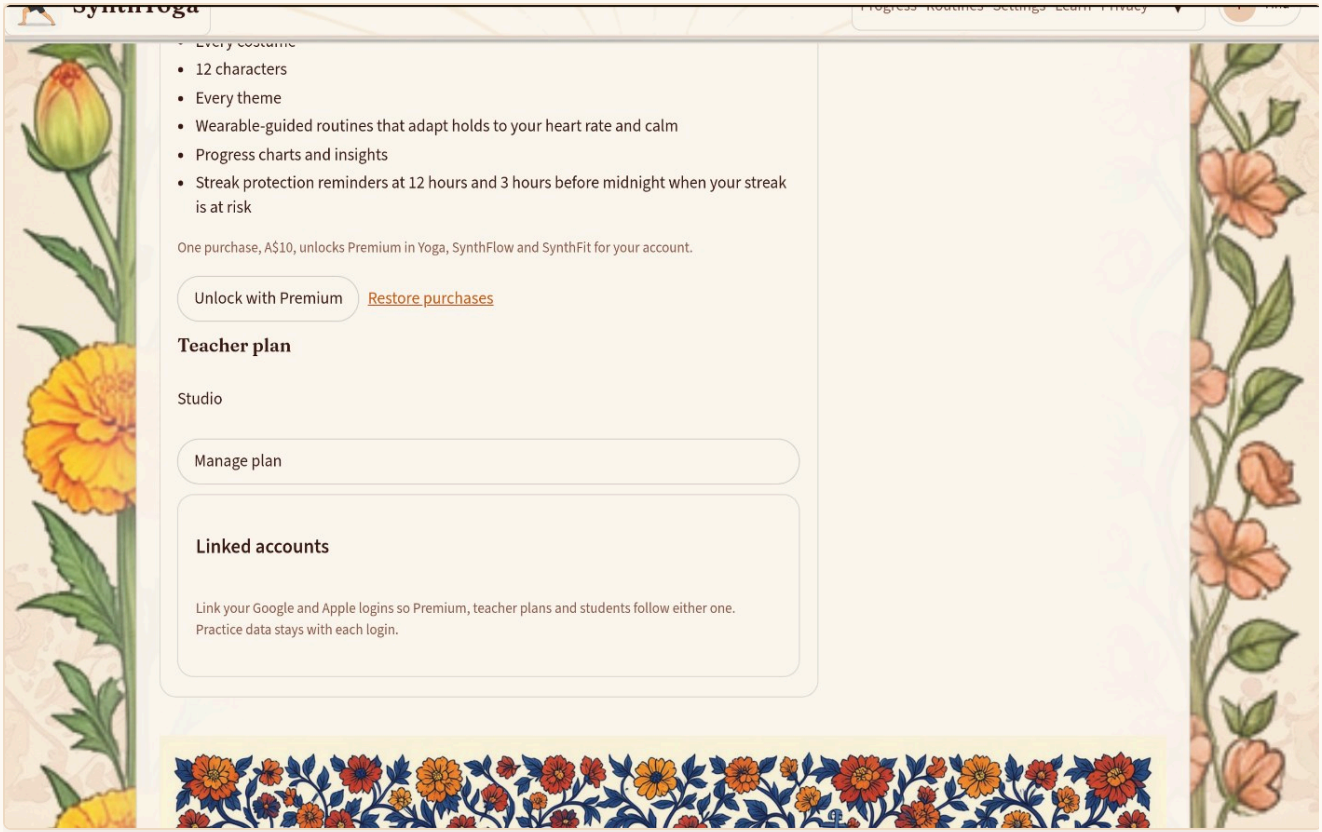

Choosing a plan. On the Coach desk, tap Upgrade or Manage plan. The picker starts on yearly pricing; switch the Yearly (2 months free) toggle off for monthly. Tap Choose Studio, Choose Unlimited or Choose Studio Plus.

- On the web (synthfit.online) you pay through Stripe.
- In the iOS or Android app you pay through the App Store or Google Play.

A plan bought either way works in every app and on the web. It can take a minute to appear after payment.

Managing or cancelling. On the Coach desk, tap Manage plan (or Upgrade on Starter).

You bought it	Where to manage it
On the web	Manage at synthfit.online, which opens Stripe's billing page. The app shows "Manage your plan at synthfit.online".
In the App Store	Your Apple ID subscriptions
On Google Play	Google Play subscriptions

Going down to Starter means cancelling your paid plan where you bought it. Your plan keeps working until the end of the period you've paid for; Settings shows when it ends.

If a payment fails, your plan keeps working while Stripe or the store retries, and Settings shows "payment problem — update your billing". It only ends if the payment is never made.

Billed twice? If you bought a plan on the web and in an app store, Settings warns you: "Cancel one so you are not billed twice." You get the higher of the two plans until you cancel one. To avoid this, change plans in the same place you first bought.

Restore purchases in Settings re-checks the store and our server if a plan doesn't show up on a new device.

If you change plans

Clients never lose what they've bought. Passes stay valid until they're used or expire, and memberships and student subscriptions keep running.

Moving down to Starter:

- adds the 1% fee to card payments from then on, including renewals of running memberships and student subscriptions;
- pauses staff logins beyond your own (see Staff);

- ends the Premium your coaching students and members get through you;
- stops new free or offline-paid coaching approvals while you're over Starter's 10 seats. Students you already coach stay.

Moving down from Unlimited to Studio with more than 30 coaching students: everyone stays, but you can't approve anyone new until you're under 30.

Moving up removes the fee straight away, resumes paused staff (oldest first), and switches on Premium for your paying students and members.

Note: In-app plan marketing may say “unlimited” for coaching or features; the desk still shows fair-use booking and location caps in the table above. New bookings pause at the cap until you upgrade or the month resets.

Passes and desk sales

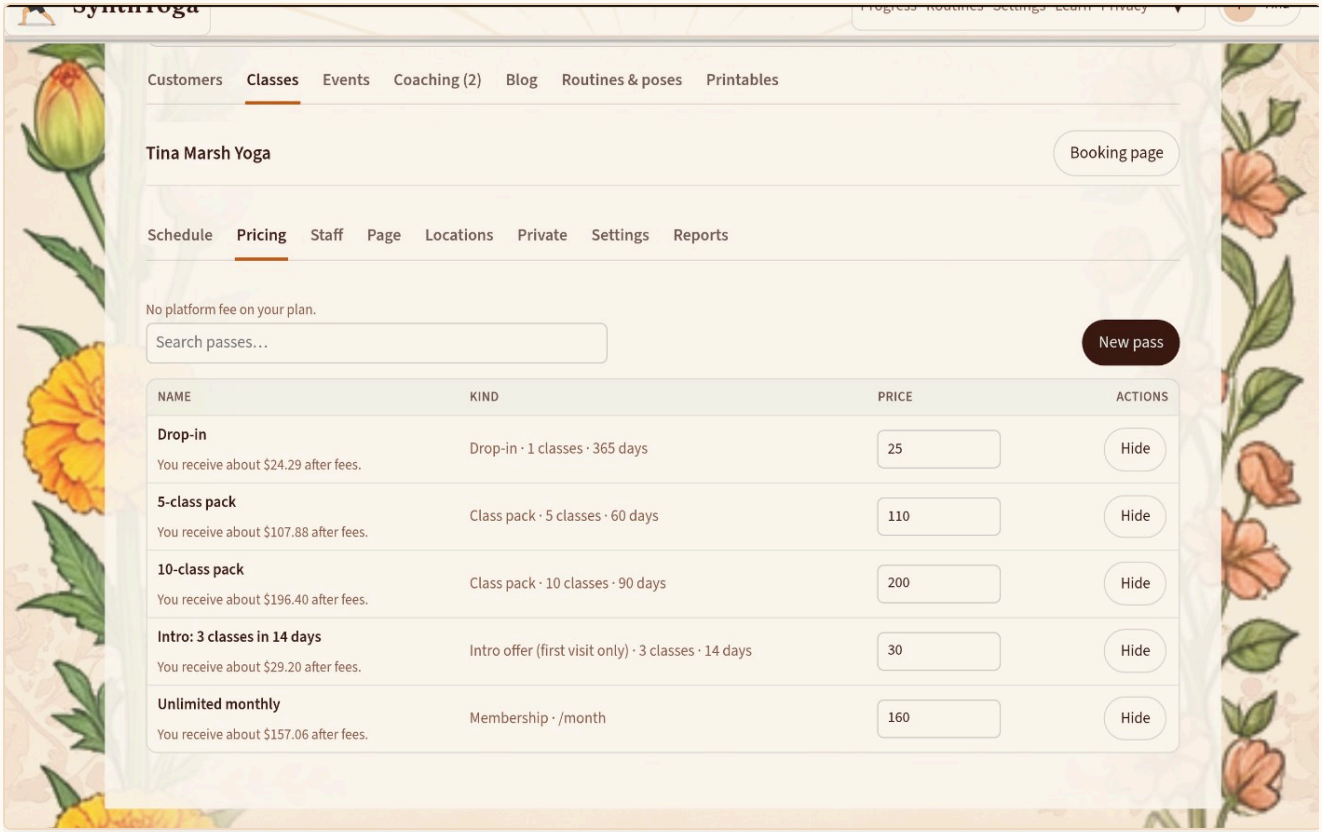

To sell passes by card, finish Stripe and getting paid first. Until then, Classes → Pricing says to set up Stripe under Coaching → Pricing. You can still give classes from the desk.

What you can sell

On Classes → Pricing, tap New pass, choose a type, and enter a Name and price (up to 10,000.00).

Pass	How it works	Example
Drop-in	One class. Bought for a particular class, or ahead, when it's valid for a year.	A$25 casual class
Class pack	1 to 500 Classes, to use within Days valid (1 to 3,650; default 5 classes and 90 days).	10 classes for A$200, valid for 90 days
Membership	Repeating payment: Weekly, Monthly or Yearly. Classes a week (0 = unlimited) caps weekly use, up to 50.	A$45 a week unlimited, or A$120 a month for 3 classes a week
Intro offer (first visit only)	A pack for first-timers: a number of classes within a number of days.	3 classes in 14 days for A$30

- Free classes don't need a pass: set the class's Price to Free.
- Membership weeks run Monday to Sunday. Late cancels and no-shows count toward the weekly limit.
- Intro offers are only for people who have never booked with you (free classes included) and never bought a pass from you, checked by email and app account.
- Hide removes a pass from sale and booking; Sell again brings it back. Clients who already bought it keep it. You can hide passes in the setup wizard or on Classes → Pricing.
- A pass's name and class count can't be changed after it's created (stop selling it and create a new one). Price can be edited any time on Classes → Pricing, or in the setup wizard.
- Card minimum: a pass must cost at least Stripe's minimum card payment in your currency, for example A$0.50, US$0.50 or £0.30. A pass created below it before this rule isn't offered online; you can still sell it at the desk for cash.
- What you receive: as you type a price, the form shows "You receive about…" after the platform fee and Stripe's card fee, and each pass shows the same. It uses Stripe's rate for cards from your own country, so overseas cards cost a little more. If fees would take more than 70% of the price, the form suggests a higher price or a class pack.

How clients pay

When a client books a paid class:

- A pass they already hold is used automatically, so a client with a pack never pays twice by accident. A membership is used first, then the class credit that expires soonest.
- If they have no suitable pass, they choose one to buy and pay by card on Stripe's checkout page (Stripe may also offer Apple Pay or Google Pay). Once paid, they're booked, or put on the waitlist if the class filled up meanwhile.
- Clients can also buy passes ahead from the Passes and memberships list on your page.
- In the app, clients use passes they already hold; buying happens on your booking page.
- Free places come before payment: your own coaching students book free if you've turned that on, and a class swap is used when a visiting coaching student has no pass (see class swaps).

Currency

Class passes are priced in your studio's Currency (Settings → Details).

- A new studio starts in your Stripe currency. A studio created before you set up Stripe starts in Australian dollars.
- If it doesn't match your Stripe currency, the desk warns you: Stripe converts each sale and charges a conversion fee.
- The currency locks once you've created any pass, including ones you've stopped selling. Set it before your first pass.

Credits and expiry

- Packs expire at the end of their Days valid.
- Expiry reminder: clients with classes left get a reminder a week before. It isn't sent to clients who've turned reminders off.
- Credits on the customer record: each pass shows "6 of 10 left" and its expiry date.

Credits vs refunds

- Class credit = a class remaining on a pass. Cancelling a session (or a client cancelling in time) puts the credit back on their pass.
- Money refund = returning the card payment. Not automatic when you cancel a session — use Refund on the client's record in Customers (see Refunds, free classes and adjustments).
- Coaching card payments: refunds and disputes stay in your Stripe dashboard.

Refunds, free classes and adjustments

Owners and managers can do these from a client's record in Customers:

- Refund: shown on passes bought by card. It refunds the whole payment, including any booking fee, and removes the unused classes. On Starter, the 1% platform fee is returned to you too. Partial refunds aren't available from the desk.
- Stop at period end: shown on memberships instead of Refund. The membership stops when the current period ends; nothing is refunded. For a refund, issue it in your Stripe dashboard.
- Pause / Resume: shown on memberships. Pause stops class booking and card renewals until you resume. For a membership sold at the desk, the remaining time is frozen and continues after resume.
- Give free classes: add a number of Classes, with Days valid and a Note. Useful for gifts, make-ups and anything paid outside the app.
- +1 / −1: add or remove a class on an existing pass.
- Undo sale: shown on passes sold at the desk (see below). It removes the unused classes and marks the sale "sale undone" in your revenue report. Give any money back in person. Only owners and managers can undo a sale.

If you refund a class pass from your Stripe dashboard instead, all its remaining classes are removed. The 1% platform fee isn't returned that way, so use Refund in the desk where you can.

Selling at the desk

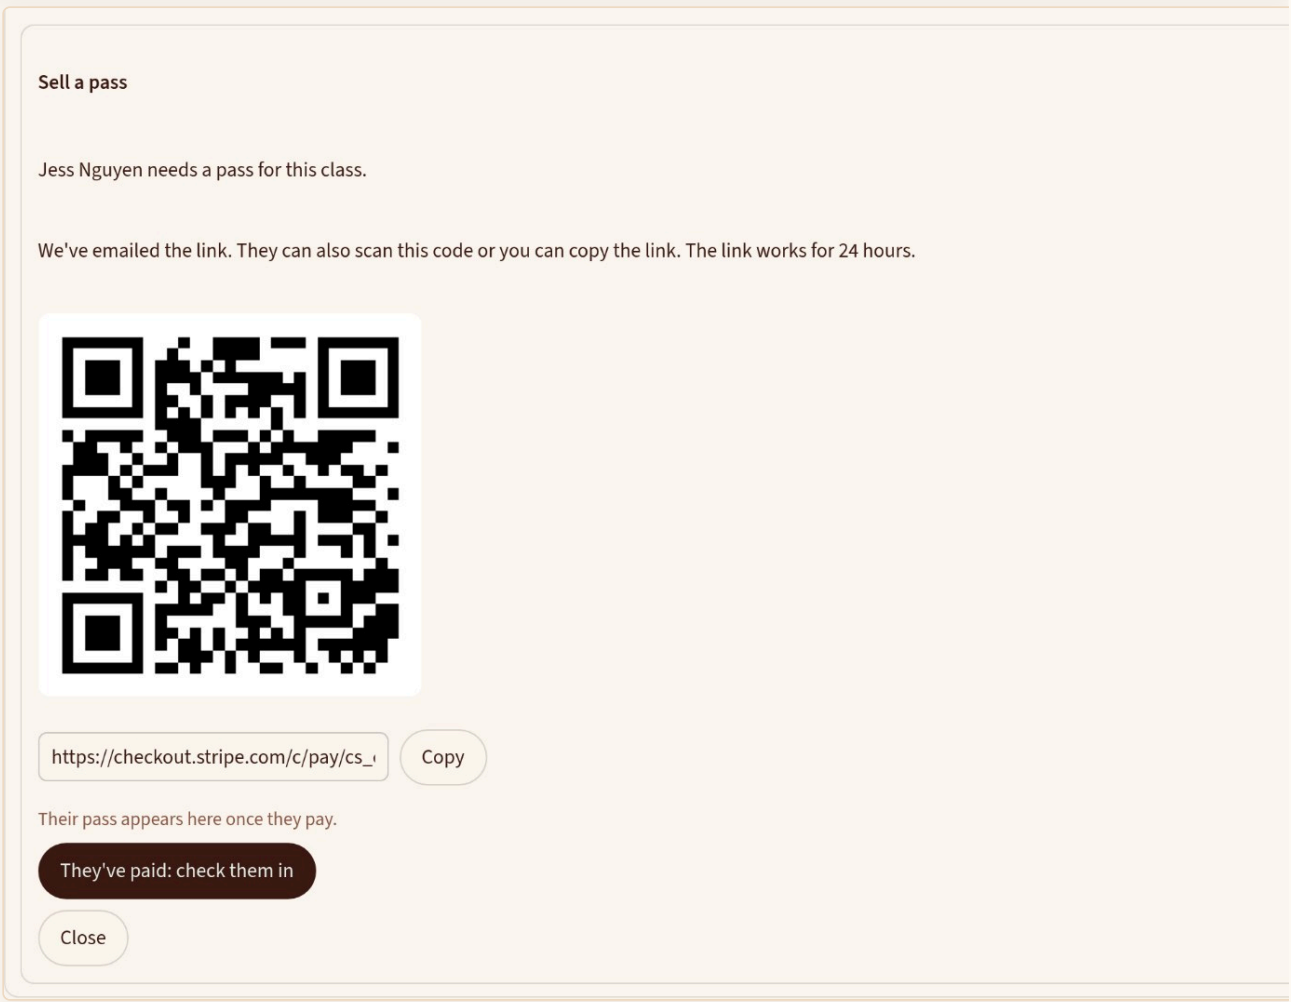

Owners, managers and front desk staff can sell any pass that's on sale, from Sell a pass on a client's record or from the prompt when you add a walk-in who has no pass. Pick the Pass, then either:

- Record payment if they paid you in person. Choose How they paid (cash, bank transfer, your card machine or other); the Amount paid starts at the pass price and you can change it, for example for a discount. The pass is theirs straight away. A membership sold this way covers one period (a week, month or year) and doesn't renew: sell another when it runs out, or have them buy it online to renew automatically.

- Send card payment link to have them pay by card on their own phone. The desk shows a QR code they can scan and a link you can copy, and emails the link too if they have an email address. The link works for 24 hours. Their pass appears on their record once they've paid; at the door, tap "They've paid: check them in". Card links need Stripe set up, and the usual platform and Stripe fees apply.

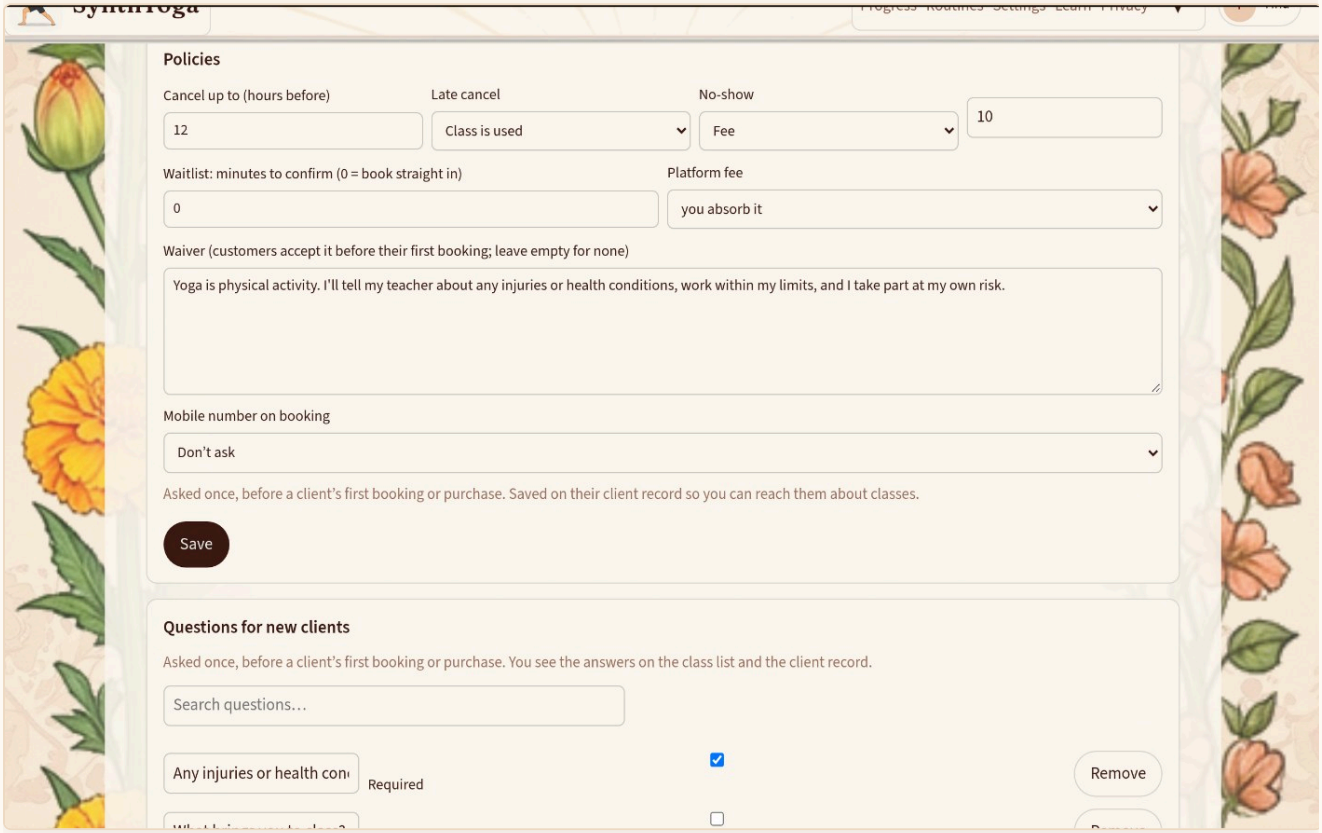

Desk sales show on the client's record as "paid in person (cash)" and so on, and count in your revenue report as in-person sales. No platform fee is charged on payments you record yourself.

Policies and intake

Set these once in Settings → Policies. They then run on their own.

Setting	Options	Default
Cancel up to (hours before)	0 to 168 hours. 0 means clients can cancel any time before class.	12 (0 for studios created automatically)
Late cancel	Class is used, Fee or No penalty	Class is used
No-show	Class is used, Fee or No penalty	Class is used
Waitlist: minutes to confirm	0 to 1,440. 0 means book straight in.	0
Platform fee	you absorb it or customers pay it (Starter only; see Fees)	you absorb it

Late cancels and no-shows

- Class is used: the credit isn't returned.
- Fee: the credit is used and a fee (up to 1,000.00) is recorded. Fees aren't charged to a card automatically. They appear under Fees due on the client's record, where you mark them Paid once collected or Waive them.
- No penalty: the credit goes back, but the late cancel or no-show still shows in their history.
- Never late: leaving a waitlist, declining a waitlist offer, being removed by you, or cancelling a class that has a substitute teacher.
- Letting someone off: use Waive on a fee, or +1 on their pass to give a used class back (see Your clients).

Waitlist

- At 0 minutes (the default), when a spot opens the first person on the waitlist is booked straight in and told "You're off the waitlist".
- With a confirm time (for example 120 minutes), they're offered the spot instead and must Confirm spot in time, or it goes to the next person. Offers are checked every 15 minutes, so an offer can run a little past its time.
- On a paid class, if the next person doesn't have a pass that covers it, they always get an offer with 2 hours to confirm and pay.
- Spots open when someone cancels, when you remove someone, or when you add spots.

Waiver

Paste your waiver text into Waiver. Leave it empty if you don't use one.

- Clients booking on your page must accept it before their first booking.
- You can tick Waiver signed on a client's record, for example for a paper waiver.
- The roster shows No waiver for anyone who hasn't accepted it.

Mobile number on booking

Under Settings → Mobile number on booking, choose whether new clients leave a mobile before their first booking or purchase:

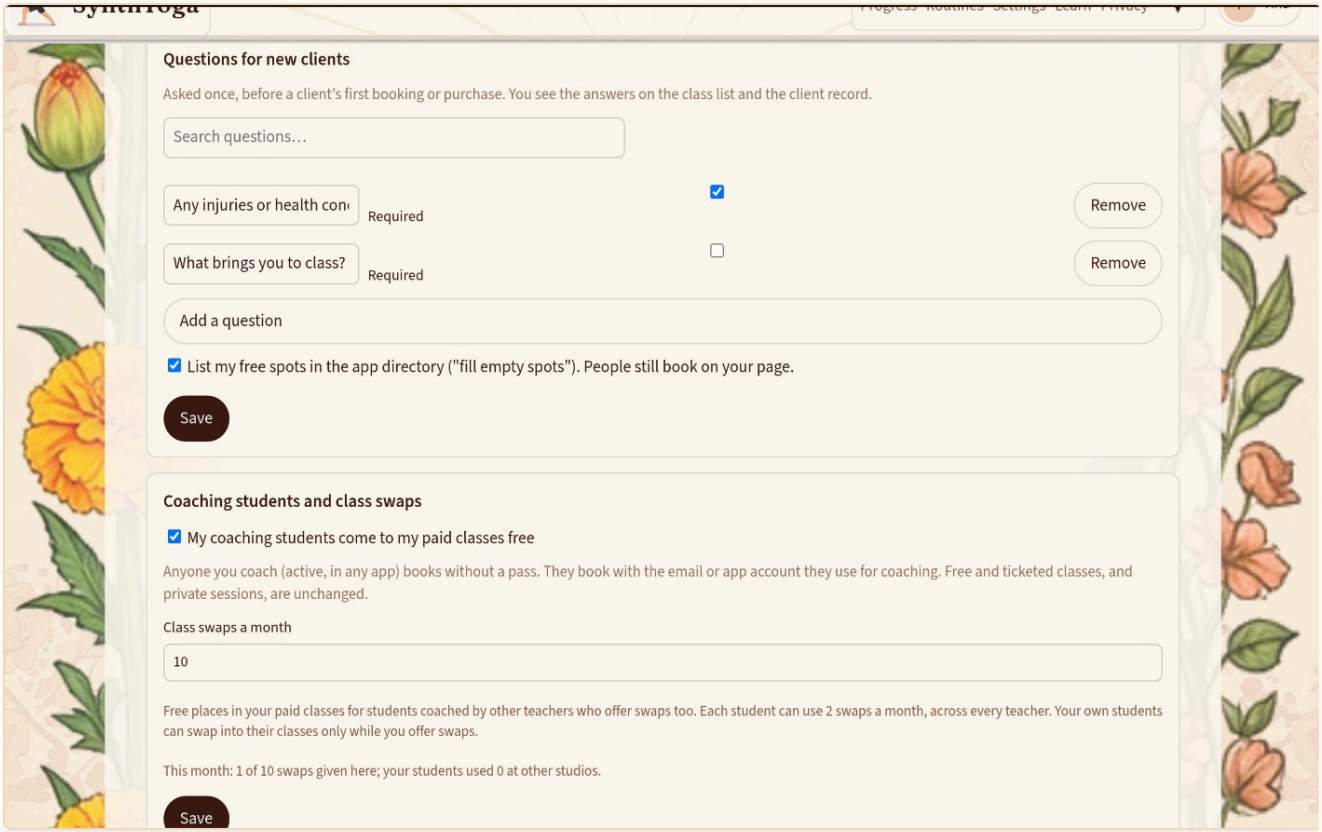

Setting	What happens
Don’t ask	No mobile step (the default).
Ask (optional)	Clients see a mobile field once; they can leave it blank.
Require	Clients must enter a mobile before booking.

- The number is saved on the client record (Phone), and you can edit it later.
- On the class roster, Book in and Walk-in also show a Mobile field when this setting is on.

Questions for new clients

Under Settings → Questions for new clients, Add a question (up to 5), for example "Any injuries we should know about?" or "What brings you to class?". Tick Required for questions they must answer.

- Clients answer once, before their first booking or purchase, on your booking page or in the app. They can see and change their answers under Your answers in My bookings.
- When someone books extra people with them, each companion answers your questions for that visit (name only — no email). You see those answers on the roster next to their name.
- You see the answers on the class roster and on the client's record (Answers).
- Answers are private to your studio's staff, like your notes.

Clients see your cancel window on your booking page.

Daily teaching

Edit and cancel sessions on the schedule, then use the roster for check-in.

Creating a class

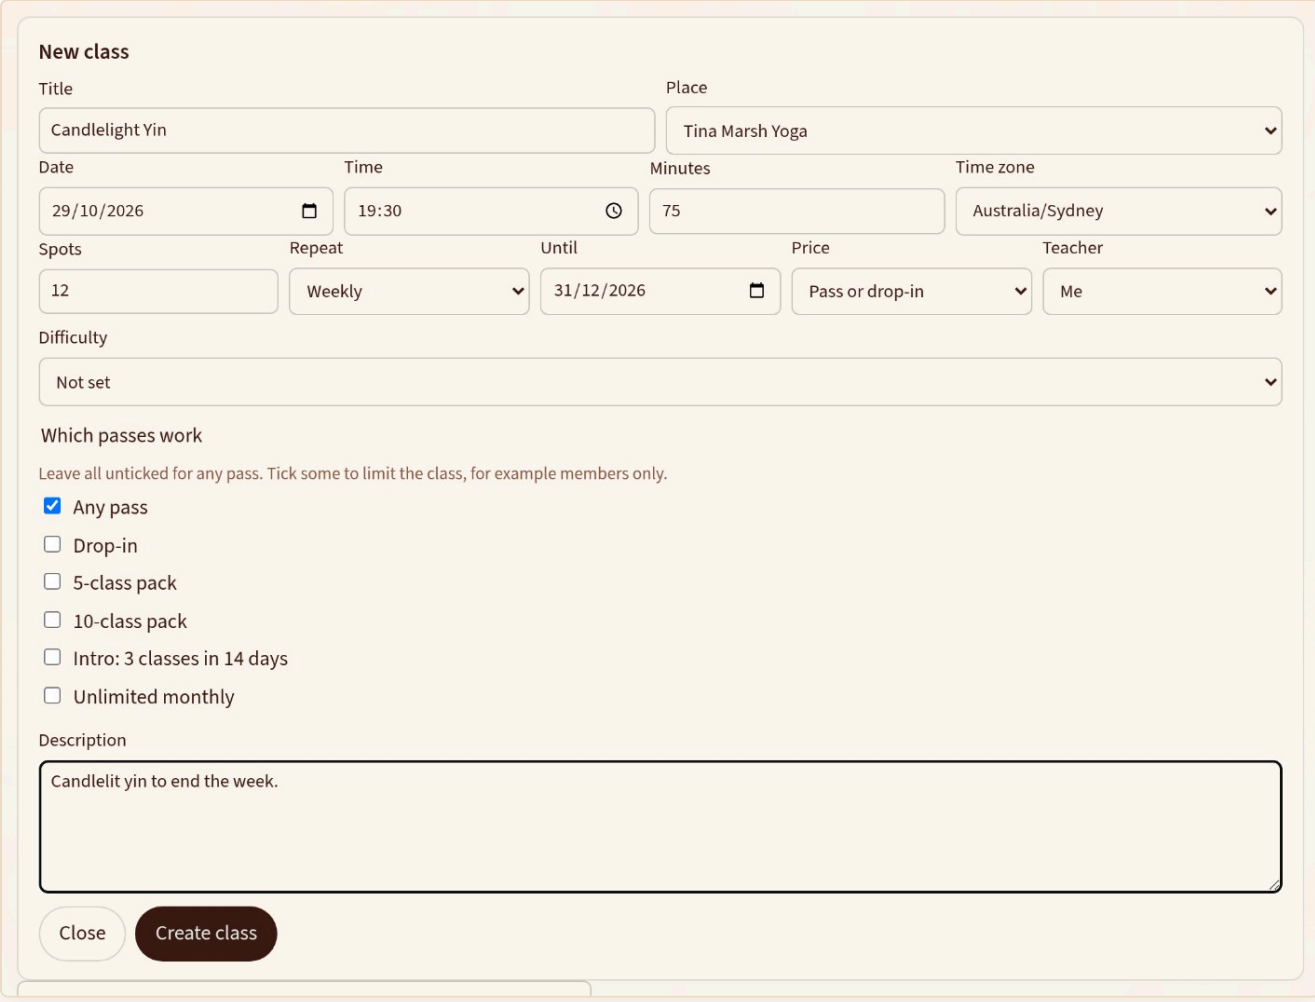

Do this

1. Open Coach desk → Classes → Schedule.
2. Tap New class.
3. Set Price to Free or Pass or drop-in (workshops → Events).
4. Pick Place, Spots, and Repeat, then tap Create class.

Notes

- Price is Free or Pass or drop-in (ticketed workshops live under Events). On paid classes you can leave Any pass ticked, or limit which passes cover that class.
- Place is one of your rooms, or Somewhere else with a typed location. Spots default to 10 (1–500); once full, people join the waitlist.
- Repeat can be once, weekly, every 2 weeks or monthly, optionally Until a date. Class length is 5 to 1,440 minutes.

Then tap Create class.

- The same teacher can't be scheduled for two overlapping classes or events. Back-to-back (one ends when the next starts) is fine.
- The same room can't hold two overlapping sessions. Free-text locations without a room aren't checked that way.
- Creating, editing, or assigning a substitute warns if it would clash and lists the overlapping classes, each with an Edit link that opens in a new window so you can fix them. You can still choose Create / Save / Set substitute anyway when you mean to resolve the clash after.
- Repeating classes are kept on the schedule 12 weeks ahead automatically.
- A monthly class on the 31st (or 29th or 30th) falls on the last day of shorter months.
- A paid class accepts any of your passes except event tickets, unless you limited it to particular passes.
- A ticketed event sells only its own ticket (not class packs). Clients buy it on your booking page.

The schedule view

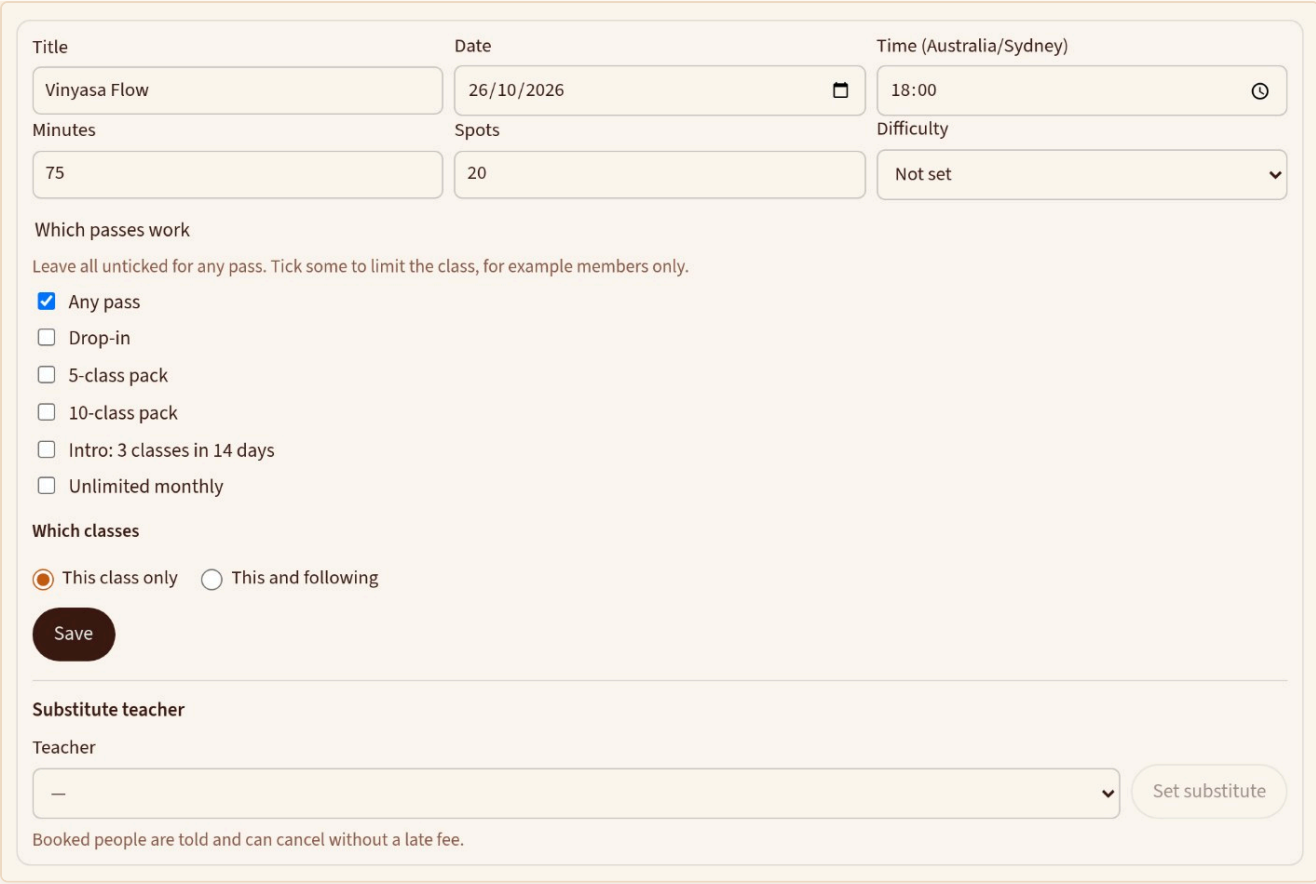

The schedule shows one week at a time. Use ‹ and › to move between weeks, and This week to come back. Filter by Teacher or Room.

Each session shows how full it is ("8/12 · 2 waiting"), the teacher and the place, with tags for Substitute and Paid. Tap People for the roster, Edit to change it, or Cancel.

Changing a session

Tap Edit and choose This class only or This and following.

- What you can change: the title, date (one session only), time, minutes, spots, which passes work (on paid classes), and the location typed for "Somewhere else". The price mode and description can't be changed after creation.
- Spots: you can't set fewer spots than people already booked. Adding spots moves people off the waitlist automatically.
- Moving one session detaches it from the series, so later "This and following" edits won't change it.
- Booked clients are told when the time or place changes.

Cancelling a session

Tap Cancel, choose This class only or This and following, optionally add a Reason (optional) for clients, and tap Cancel class.

- Everyone booked or on the waitlist is told by email, with your reason.
- Class credits go back to their passes automatically (see Credits vs refunds). Money isn't refunded automatically. To give a client their money back, use Refund on their customer record (see Refunds).
- This and following ends the repeating series from that date.
- To skip a public holiday, cancel just that session; the rest of the series carries on.

Roster and check-in

Do this

1. Open the session on Schedule and tap People.
2. Before class, review the booked list and waitlist.
3. As people arrive, tick them in.
4. Use Book in / Walk-in to add people; Remove cancels with no penalty and returns credit.

5. After class, unchecked bookings become No-show 15 minutes after end — tick later if needed.

Details

1. Before class, you see everyone booked, with the waitlist underneath in order. Each person shows:
   - their tags and your private notes;
   - No waiver if you use a waiver and they haven't accepted it;
   - Offered if they've been offered a waitlist spot;
   - Coaching student or Class swap if they took a free place;
   - With … / Booked with … when someone booked as a group (the primary contact is who gets reminders; companions are name-only with their own answers to your questions).
2. Check people in by ticking their name. Untick to undo.
3. Adding people: type an Email (and Name) at the bottom of the roster, then tap one of:
   - Book in: books them before class without a code, or adds them to the waitlist if the class is full. Use Add another person under the form to book companions on the same booking (each needs a name and answers to your questions; reminders still go to the email you entered).
   - Walk-in: books and checks them in at the door, even if the class is full or has started. On a paid class without a pass, the desk says "[name] needs a pass for this class" and opens the sale panel, so you can sell them one there and then; they're checked in as soon as it's recorded. See Selling at the desk. (Walk-in is one person at a time.)
4. Remove cancels someone's booking with no penalty and gives their credit back.
5. After class, anyone booked but not checked in is marked No-show automatically, 15 minutes after the class ends. If someone did come and you forgot to tick them, tick them later.

Attendance feeds into each client's history and into your reports.

Events

Ticketed workshops and one-off sessions live under Coach desk → Events, separate from regular classes. They appear on the same public booking page, with a Classes / Events filter when you offer both.

Events need an internet connection (same as Classes).

Creating an event

On Events → Schedule, tap New event. Fill in:

- Title, Place (a room, or Somewhere else with a typed location), Date, Time, Minutes and Spots.
- Ticket price in your studio currency. Creating the event also creates its Event ticket under Events → Pricing.
- Repeat if you need a series (once, weekly, every 2 weeks or monthly), optionally Until a date.

Then tap Create event.

Worth knowing:

- An event ticket is only for that event (or its series). Class packs and memberships do not cover ticketed events, and event tickets do not cover regular classes.
- The same teacher can't be scheduled for two overlapping classes or events. Room clashes are checked the same way as classes.
- Coaching free places and class swaps apply to paid classes, not ticketed events (see Coaching students in your classes, and class swaps).
- Free community classes stay under Classes with Price → Free — use Events when people buy a ticket.

Pricing and tickets

Events → Pricing lists event tickets. Creating an event on the schedule creates its ticket; you can also add a ticket with New ticket. Hide a ticket to stop selling it; people who already bought keep theirs.

Card sales need Stripe (set up under Coaching → Pricing), the same as class passes. Platform fee rules follow your teacher plan (see Fees).

On your booking page

Clients see ticketed events mixed with classes (or filtered with Events). Each event shows its ticket price and spots left. They tap Buy ticket (or Join waitlist when full) and pay by card. You can link straight to events with `?type=event` on your booking page URL.

Roster, check-in and reports

Open an event from the Events schedule and use People for the roster and check-in — same flow as a class (see Teaching a class: roster and check-in).

Events → Reports is separate from Classes → Reports. It covers:

- Event attendance — ticketed events only (occupancy vs capacity);
- Event teaching hours — hours on ticketed events by staff member;
- Ticket sales — revenue from event tickets (class packs and memberships stay under Classes → Reports).

For a printable flyer of one upcoming event, use Printables → Event (see Printables).

Booking page and sharing

What's on it

- Your studio name, website and About text, with your photo if you've added one (Settings → Details → Photo on your booking page: a JPEG, PNG or WebP up to 1 MB; Remove photo takes it down). The photo also shows when your link is shared on social media.
- Filters for class, teacher and place, shown when you have more than one of each. When you have both classes and ticketed events, a Classes / Events type filter appears too. Clients pick, for example, All teachers → Sam, and "Show all" clears it. You can link straight to a filtered view by adding `?teacher=Sam` (or `?class=…`, `?place=…`, `?type=event`) to your link, which is handy for a teacher's own bio, a location's page, or an events-only link.
- The next 8 weeks of classes and ticketed events, grouped by day. Each row shows its time, teacher and place; "paid" for paid classes; ticket price for events; and how many spots are left, or "Full · 3 waiting".
- Book or Join waitlist on each class; Buy ticket (or Join waitlist) on each ticketed event.
- Private sessions, if you've set availability: clients tap Pick a time, choose a slot, and book with the same email code as classes.
- Passes and memberships for sale, with prices that include any booking fee you pass on.
- A note for coaching students when you've turned on free classes for them or class swaps, with how many swaps are left this month (see Coaching students in your classes, and class swaps).
- Your cancellation rule ("Cancel at least 12 hours before class to keep your credit"), and a link to subscribe to your class calendar.

Spot counts refresh every minute while the page is open. The page itself updates a few seconds after you change something; use Update page now in Settings if you want to force it.

Your link name

Set it in Classes → Settings → Details → Link name.

- Use lowercase letters, numbers and hyphens, up to 40 characters.
- If the name you want is taken, you'll see "That link is taken".
- Changing your link name breaks the old one straight away, including embeds and calendar subscriptions that use it. Choose it before you share it widely.

Where to share it

- Instagram, TikTok or Linktree: paste your booking page link. Many teachers find it can replace their link-in-bio tool.
- Your own website: Settings shows "Put the schedule on your own website:" with a short code snippet and Copy. Paste it into your site. The embedded schedule hides the page header and resizes to fit.
- Google: the page is built so search engines can read your classes, prices and availability. Your classes can show up when people search for something like "yoga classes near me".
- The app: if you're a listed teacher, your directory profile has a Book a class button that opens your page.

Your page shows only your studio. There are no "you might also like" suggestions for other teachers.

Booking page clients (short)

Clients book from your public page with an email code, or in the app when signed in (Register for free; Claim Booking when a pass, membership, coaching free place, or class swap covers them). Full walkthroughs: When clients ask….

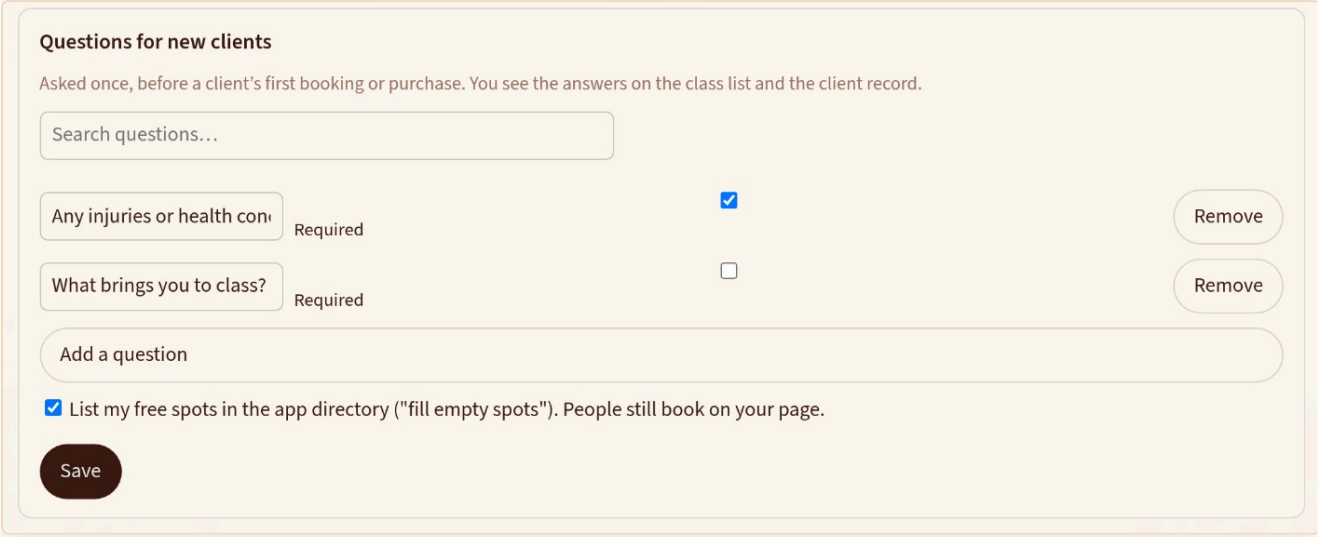

Filling empty spots

In Settings, you can tick List my free spots in the app directory ("fill empty spots").

- When it's on, your directory profile in the app shows how many of your classes have spots this week, next to Book a class. People book on your booking page as usual.
- It covers all your classes in the next 7 days; you can't pick individual classes.

- It's off by default.
- You're paid your normal price in full, the same as any other booking (no discounted payout like ClassPass).
- People who book this way become your clients, with their contact details, like everyone else.

Reminders and messages

Messages go out automatically. You don't have to send anything.

When	What the client gets
On booking	"You're booked": class, time and place, with a calendar file
24 hours before	Reminder with the time and place, and a cancel link
2 hours before	Short reminder
A waitlist spot opens	"You're off the waitlist", or an offer to confirm within your time limit
You change the time or place	Notice of the change
You set a substitute	Who's teaching instead, and that they can cancel without a late fee
You cancel a session	Notice with your reason, and that their credit is back
A week before a pack expires	Reminder to use the remaining classes
A membership payment fails	"Payment problem": a request to update their card

- Reminders are skipped if the client booked after that point. For example, someone who books 3 hours before class gets the 2-hour reminder but not the 24-hour one.
- You aren't sent a message when someone books or cancels. Check the schedule or roster.

How messages reach clients

Every plan emails the essentials: sign-in codes, booking confirmations (with the calendar file), changes to a session, and your cancellations. These always arrive, because clients book with an email address and many never install the app.

Everything else depends on your plan and whether the client has the app:

	Clients with the app	Clients without the app
Starter	App notifications	Waitlist offers and payment problems by email. Reminders and pack-expiry notices aren't emailed; clients rely on the alert in their calendar.
Studio and Unlimited	App notifications, plus email for payment problems	Everything by email

- Clients can turn reminders off, for your studio or entirely. That stops reminders and pack-expiry notices, and stops waitlist offers and payment problems coming by email.
- "With the app" means the client is signed in to SynthYoga with the email they book with, and has allowed notifications (My bookings → Turn on class reminders). Tapping a notification opens My bookings. If they sign out or block notifications, they count as "without the app" until they turn them back on.

Practice reminders (for your own practice streak and schedule) live under Settings → Notifications → Practice reminders. They are separate from class booking reminders.

Coaching

Optional module for ongoing one-to-one work. Use Offer coaching on the Coaching tab. Free places in paid classes: Coaching ↔ classes.

Offer coaching and approve students

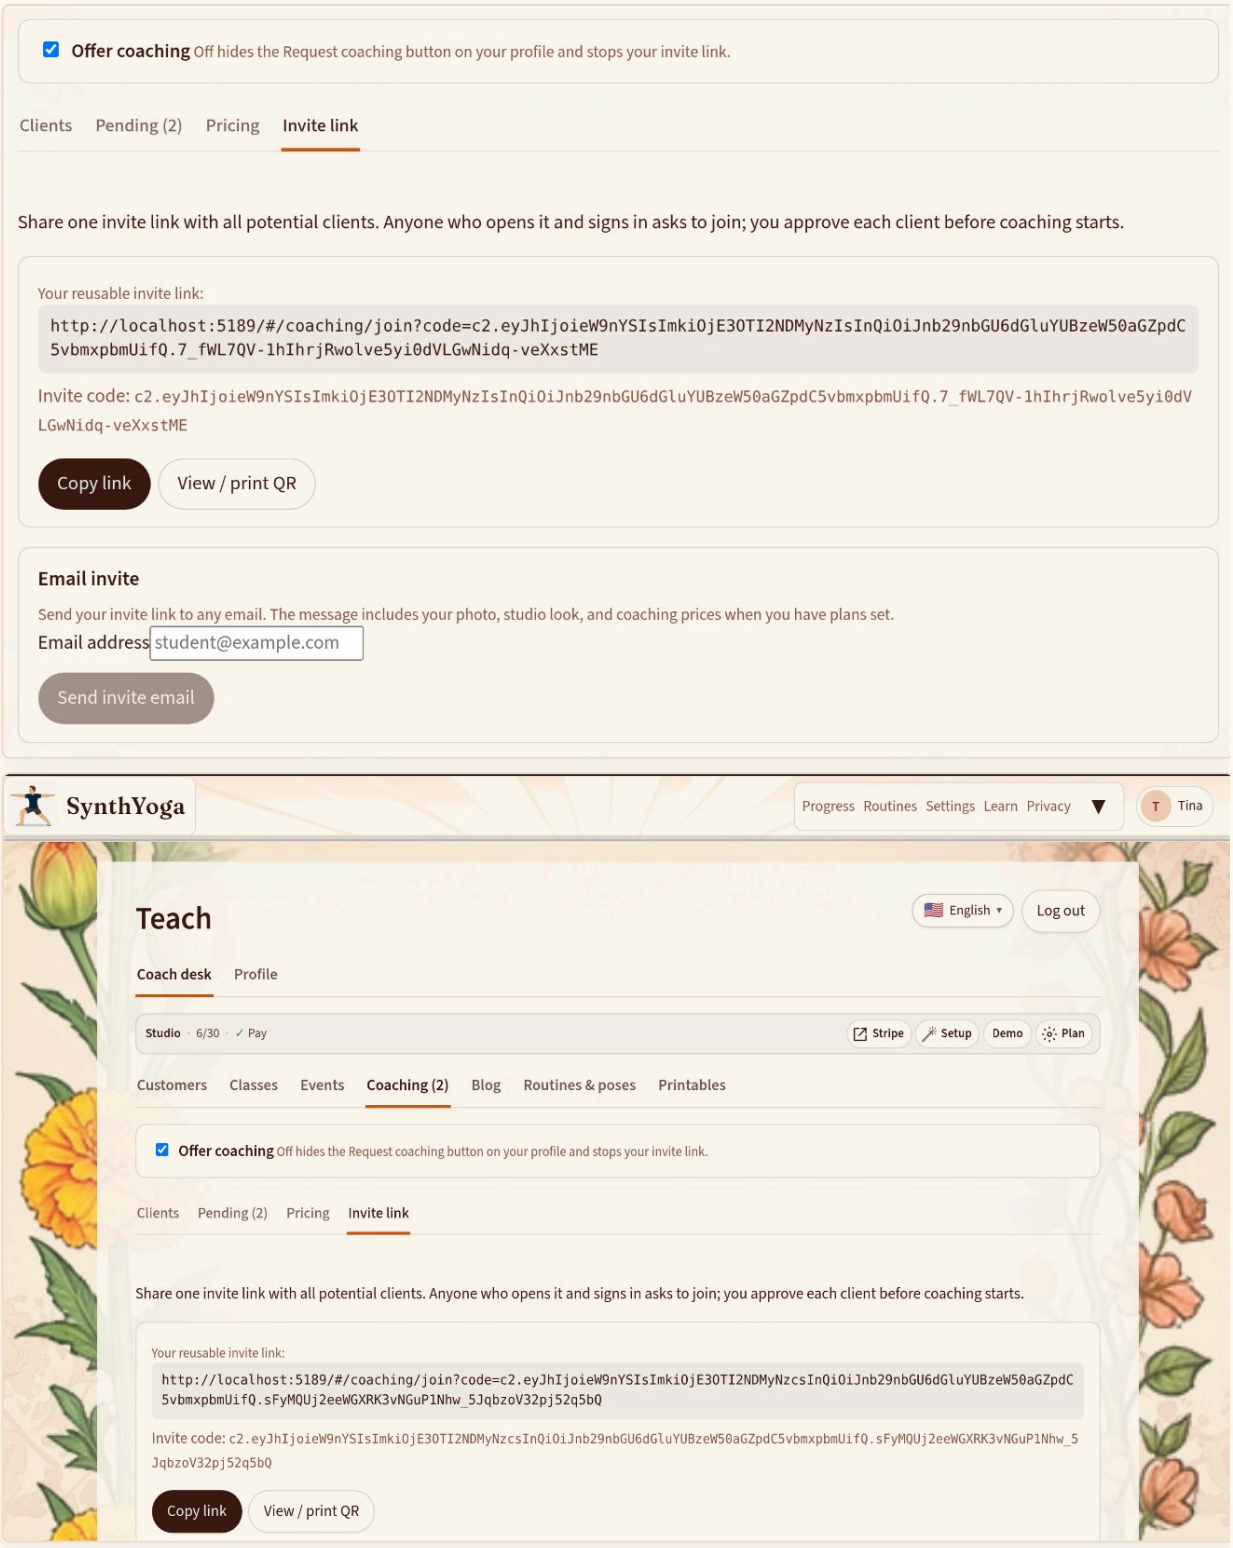

Coaching is optional. Turn it on or off under Coach desk → Coaching → Offer coaching.

While coaching is off (untick Offer coaching on the Coaching tab):

- the desk shows that coaching is off and students can't ask to join you;
- the Coaching tab panels (Clients / Pending / Invite) stay available if you still have students; new requests stop;
- your invite link stops working;
- the teacher directory hides Request coaching on your profile (there is no separate status line);
- students you already coach carry on as normal;
- classes, bookings, programs and your blog all keep working.

How students find you

- Your invite link and QR code (Coaching → Invite link):
  - Tap Show invite link, then Copy link or View / print QR. The QR window has Download PNG and Print, which prints a page headed "Join coaching with" your name.
  - Email invite sends the same link to any address as a branded HTML message (your photo, studio look, and coaching prices when you have plans). Daily and hourly limits apply by plan.
  - Your invite link never expires, and only works in the Yoga app.
  - Students can also type your Invite code on the app's "Join your teacher" page.
  - Your link only works while your listing is approved and coaching is on.

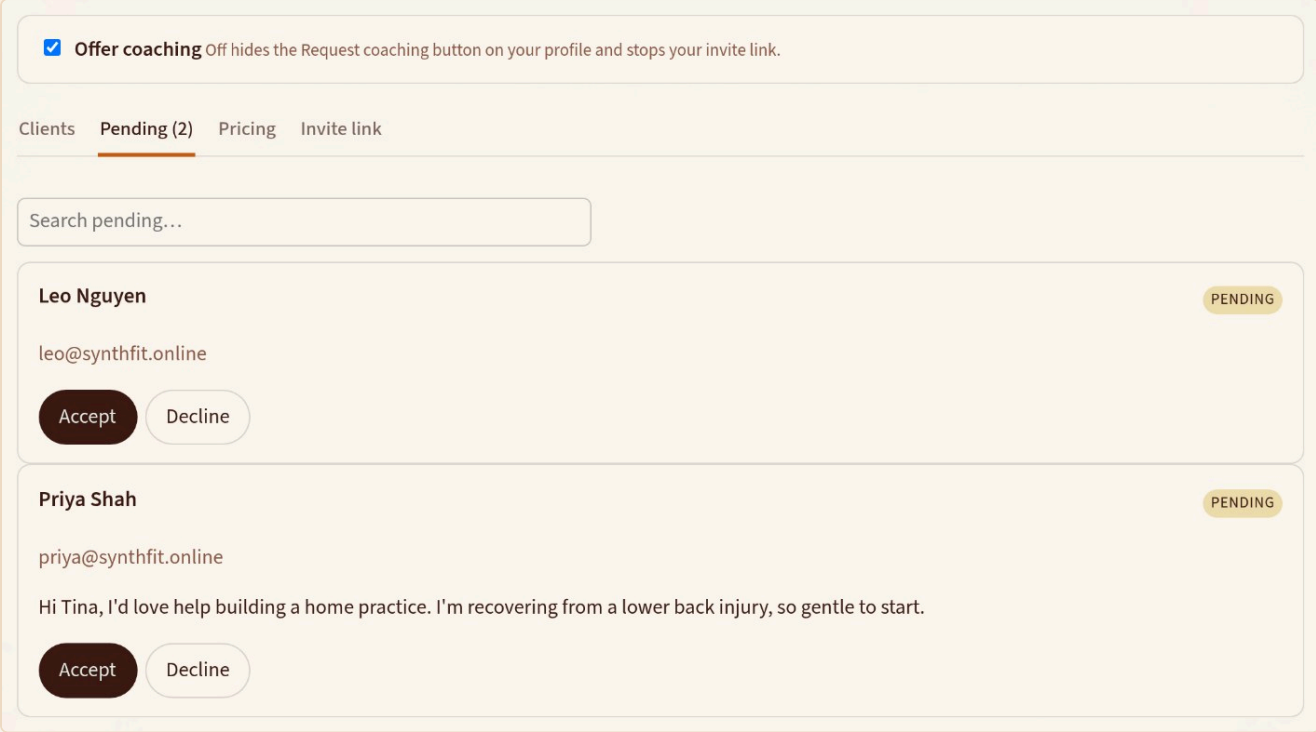

- The teacher directory:
  - Students find you with Search by name or place, so a clear name and region on your listing matter.
  - Students can tap Request coaching on your profile.
  - They can add an optional message to you of up to 500 characters, for example their goals, experience or injuries.

Whichever way a student arrives, their request lands in Pending. Nobody is coached without your approval.

Pending requests

Each pending card shows the student's name ("Apple account" for students who sign in with Apple), their message if they wrote one, and Accept and Decline.

- Up to 10 requests can wait in Pending at once. When it's full, new requests are refused with "Too many pending requests", so clear your Pending list regularly.
- Declining doesn't tell the student why.

Approving: how does this student pay?

Tapping Accept opens "Approve [name]: How does this student pay?" with three choices:

Choice	What it means
Card subscription through Stripe	They pay one of your student plans by card. Stripe bills them automatically and follows up failed payments. Selected for you when Stripe is ready and you have a plan.
Pays me directly (offline)	Cash, bank transfer or anything else outside the app. You keep track yourself.
Free (complimentary)	No charge.

- Card payment needs two things: finished Stripe setup and an active student plan. If either is missing, the dialog lets you finish Stripe setup or create a quick plan on the spot. The plan is named "Coaching" unless you change it; enter a price and choose every week or month.
- Students who sign in with Apple: if the app asks, link Apple login under Settings → Premium App → Linked accounts, then approve again.
- You can change how they pay later on the student's page with Change how they pay (same three choices). Seat and Stripe rules still apply.

Seats

A seat is an active coaching student.

	Starter	Studio	Unlimited	Studio Plus
Free or offline-paid students	Up to 10	Up to 30 in total	Unlimited	Unlimited
Students paying by card	Unlimited; no seat used	Count toward the 30	Unlimited	Unlimited

On Starter:

- Card students don't use a seat while they're paying, overdue, or haven't made their first payment.
- Up to 10 card students can be waiting for their first payment at once. Past that, you'll see "coaching students haven't made their first card payment yet" until some of them pay.
- A card student whose subscription has ended ("Subscription ended") goes back to using a free seat.
- When your free seats are full, you can still approve students on a card subscription.

When all your seats are full, you'll see "All … seats … are in use". You can't approve anyone new until you upgrade or end a coaching relationship.

Student plans and charging

Card payments go through your own Stripe account. Set Stripe up once under Stripe and getting paid, then create student plans here.

Student plans

Under Coaching → Pricing, create a plan with New student plan:

- Name, up to 80 characters, for example "Weekly coaching".
- Price, in your Stripe currency, from 1.00 to 10,000.00.
- Every: week or month.

Things to know:

- Edit changes the name, price or interval. A new price applies to future subscriptions; students already subscribed keep their current price until they change plan.
- Stopping a plan stops new sign-ups to it, including approved students who haven't paid yet. Offer again brings it back.
- On Starter, the 1% comes out of your payment. Unlike class passes, it can't be shown to the student as a separate fee, so build it into your price if you like.

Payment status

Each student on Clients shows a payment badge:

Badge	Meaning
Awaiting payment	Approved for card payment, but they haven't subscribed yet.
Paying	Their subscription is up to date.
Payment overdue	A payment failed and Stripe is retrying.
Subscription ended	Stripe gave up, or the subscription was cancelled.
Pays me directly (offline)
Free (complimentary)

- What the student sees: after you approve them on card payment, their My coaching page shows "Your teacher bills through Stripe: [plan] ([price])" with a Subscribe button, which opens Stripe's checkout.
- Coaching isn't blocked by payment. Assignments keep working while a student is awaiting payment or overdue; you decide whether to carry on.
- An overdue student loses the Premium they get through you until they pay.
- If a subscription ends, the student has no button to subscribe again. End coaching and have them request again, then approve them on card payment.
- Refunds and disputes for coaching payments are handled in your Stripe dashboard.

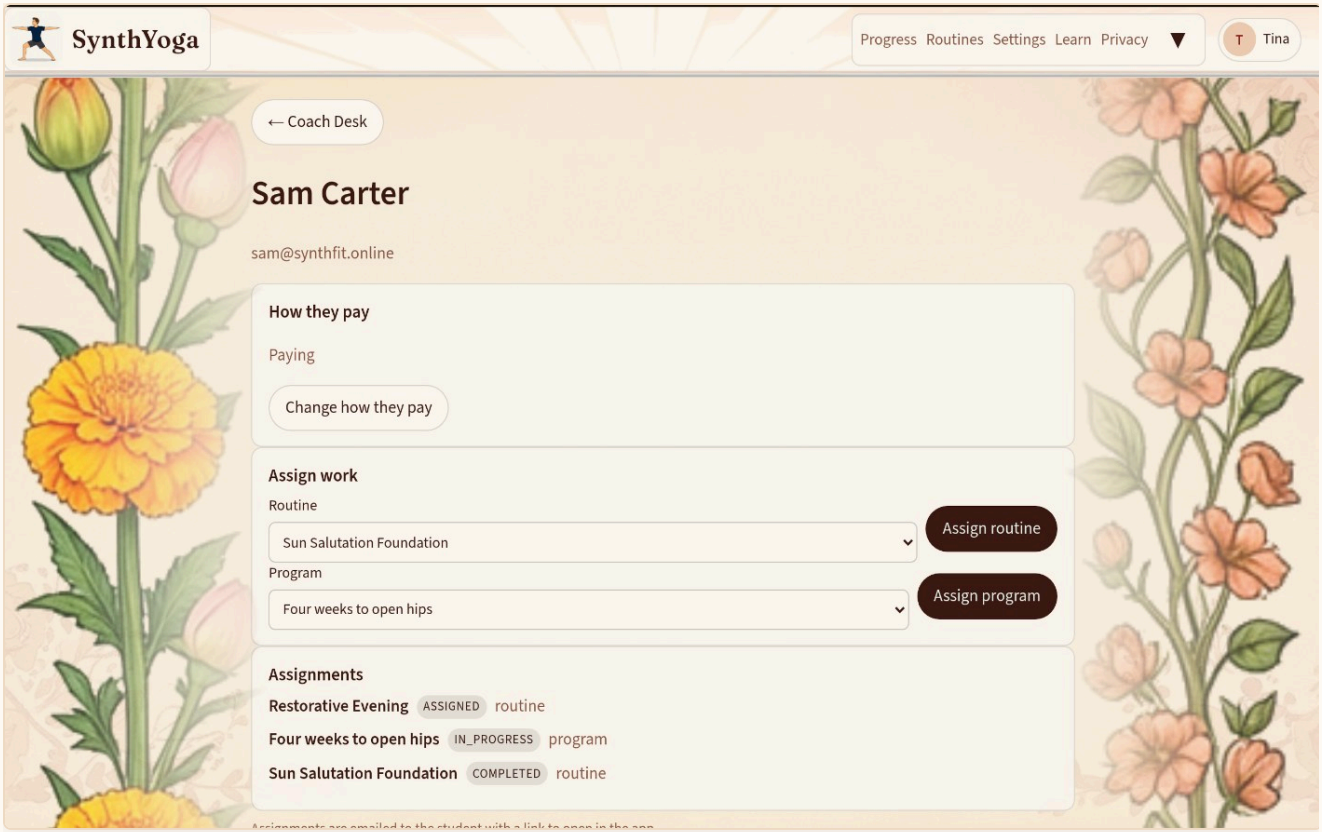

Ending coaching

Either side can end coaching. Your button is End coaching on the student's page. You confirm before it ends.

- The other person gets a "Coaching ended" notification.
- A card subscription is set to stop at the end of its current billing period. There's no refund and no further charge.
- On Starter, ending a coaching relationship frees a seat.

Working with a student

Open a student from Clients. Their page shows their email, and Their request note if they wrote one when asking to join you.

How they pay. The How they pay card shows their current payment type. Tap Change how they pay to switch between card subscription, offline and complimentary (with the same choices as when you approved them). Seat and Stripe rules still apply.

Assigning work

Under Assign work:

- Assign routine: pick one of the built-in routines or your own. The student sees it in My coaching and can start it in one tap. Playing it marks it completed.
- Assign program: pick one of your programs. The student works through it week by week ("Week 2 of 6"); finishing the last week completes it. A program is copied when you assign it, so later changes to it don't affect students who already have it.

The page shows progress as "3 open · 5 completed · 8 total", with each assignment's status (assigned, in progress, completed).

Programs

Under Routines & poses, in the Programs section, give the program a Program name and Description, then add weeks with Add week. Each week has a label and one routine (built-in or your own). Tap Save program.

A saved program can't be edited, only deleted. To change it, make a new one.

Routines & poses

This tab lists the routines and poses you've made. Open Builder makes a new routine, Create pose makes a new one, and Edit changes one.

How coaching data travels

1. You assign a routine or program in the desk.
2. The student gets an email (daily send caps apply by plan — see Your teacher plan).
3. They open it in My coaching / Coaching on their device.

Our server only stores who coaches whom and how they pay — not their practice history. Your programs and assignment history stay on the device you made them on. If Clients looks empty for people who joined elsewhere, turn on Drive sync in Settings so roster rows can appear.

What your coaching students see

- My coaching (called Coaching in the Yoga menu) has a card for each teacher with:
  - their assignments;
  - Trainer page;
  - Leave, to end coaching;
  - the Subscribe card, when payment is due.

While a request is waiting they see "Waiting for the trainer to accept your request", with Cancel request.

"From your coach" on their Progress page shows open assignments, with Start.

Progress also lists your upcoming classes and events (next two weeks) while coaching is active — even if they have not tapped Follow. Your blog posts appear there when they follow you (otherwise they may see other recent published posts).

Notifications arrive for a new assignment and when coaching ends.

Free classes and class swaps, if you turn them on: your coaching students come to your paid classes free, and can use class swaps with other teachers. See Coaching students in your classes, and class swaps.

Coaching ↔ classes

Coaching and classes work best together. Two settings let them feed each other, and both are free on every plan, including Starter.

- Free classes for your coaching students. The people you coach come to your paid classes without buying a pass.
- Class swaps. You give a few free places a month to students coached by other yoga teachers who offer swaps too. In return, your coaching students can take free classes with them. It's a network of yoga teachers sharing their communities.

Turning it on

Open Coach desk → Classes → Settings and find Coaching students and class swaps (owners and managers):

1. Tick My coaching students come to my paid classes free.
2. Set Class swaps a month: how many free places your studio gives to other teachers' students each month, from 0 to 200. The box is only available while the first option is ticked; turning that off sets swaps back to 0.
3. Tap Save.

Under the number you'll see this month's use, for example "This month: 3 of 10 swaps given here; your students used 2 at other studios."

Who gets a free place

Your coaching students. Anyone with an active coaching relationship with you, the studio owner, with any payment type (free, paid offline or by card). Pending requests and ended coaching don't count, and nor do students of your staff teachers: it's the owner's students only.

Class swap visitors. Someone qualifies for a swap at your studio when:

- they're an active coaching student of another teacher;
- that teacher also offers swaps (free classes for their coaching students on, and at least 1 swap a month);
- your studio has swaps left this month;
- they haven't used their 2 swaps this month. The limit is per student across every studio, so one person can't take all of anyone's places.

A swap visitor who already holds one of your passes uses the pass first; the swap is only used when nothing else fits.

What's included

- Paid classes in your studio, by any of your teachers.
- Not included: free classes (already free), ticketed events and private sessions.
- Passes, memberships and intro offers work exactly as before. Free places don't use a pass, aren't sales, and don't appear in your revenue report.

Cancellations and no-shows

A free place follows your normal policies, like a class credit:

- Cancelling in time, you cancelling the class, or you removing them: the swap goes back to your pool and to the student's 2 for the month.
- Late cancels and no-shows use the swap up when your rule is Class is used, the same as a pass credit.
- Your coaching students have nothing to give back; their late cancels and no-shows still count in your reports.

Months are calendar months in your studio's time zone, by the date of the class.

How students book

- In the app (signed in): they book from your class card with Book with my pass, coaching or class swap. If no free place applies, they're told why ("You've used your 2 class swaps this month") and pointed to your booking page to buy a pass.
- On your booking page: coaching students who sign in with their email are recognised by that email. Your page shows "Coached by this studio's teacher? Your classes here are free", and, when you have swaps left, how many there are this month. It never names other teachers.
- Students who sign in with Apple must book signed in to the app. As a guest on your booking page they book with an email address, which can't be matched to their Apple account.

Coaching students see their swaps under My bookings and on each coach's card under My coaching: "Class swaps: 1 of 2 used this month", with Find teachers offering class swaps. That opens the teacher directory filtered to teachers with swaps left this month. Teachers who offer swaps have a Class swaps badge in the directory, and a note on their profile.

On the roster and in reports

- The roster and each client's booking history show Coaching student or Class swap next to people who took a free place.
- The attendance report adds "Free places: 4 for your coaching students, 2 class swaps", and the CSV export has free_coaching and class_swaps columns for each class.

Privacy

Your studio never learns who coaches a swap visitor; you only see that they came on a swap. Other teachers don't see your clients, and the directory shows only that you offer swaps, not who uses them.

Home practice and private sessions

Which offering is which?

You want...	Use
Recurring group class (free or pass)	Classes → Schedule → New class
Ticketed workshop / one-off	Events → Schedule → New event
Bookable private slot on your public page	Classes → Private (pass/drop-in or free)
Ongoing 1:1 with assignments in the app	Coaching (Offer coaching) — uses seats; not the same as Private

Private bookable sessions are not coaching: no assignments, no seats, no My coaching card.

After class: home practice

This is what sets this apart from other booking systems.

After class, the roster shows a Home practice card, for example "3 of 12 people here are your coaching students. Send them a routine to practise at home."

1. Pick a routine: the sequence you just taught, or a short follow-up.
2. Add a Note if you like.
3. Tap Send.

The routine goes to everyone in the class who is one of your coaching students. It lands in their My coaching, ready to play with voice cues and the animated guide. Clients you don't coach don't receive it. Invite regulars to coach with you if you want to send them home practice.

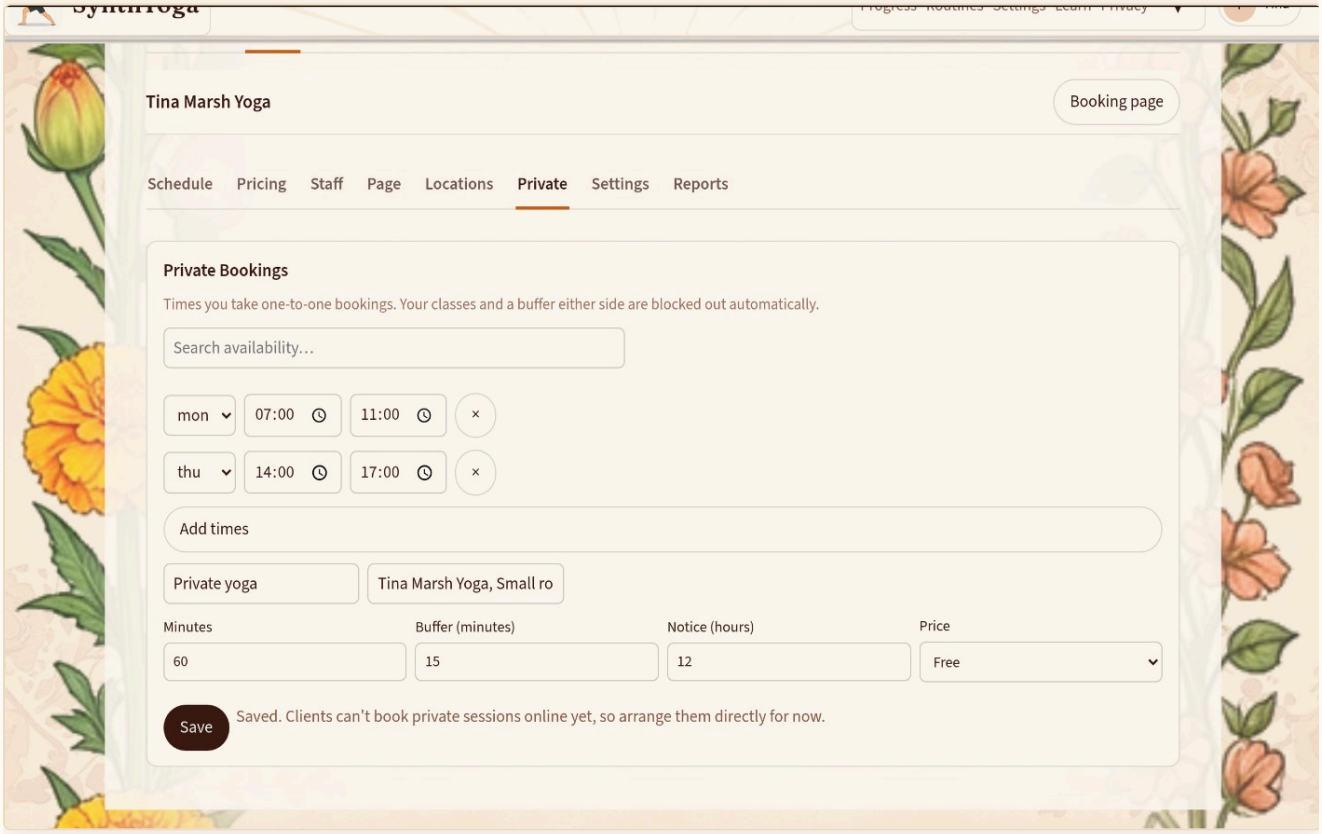

Premium for members: clients with an active membership at a studio on Studio or Unlimited get the app's Premium features included, as long as they bought it while signed in to the app.

Private bookable sessions

You can set the times you take one-to-one bookings on the Private tab (Private sessions):

- Add times for each day you're available, for example Monday 7:00 to 11:00.
- A name, for example "Private yoga", and a Location.
- Minutes per session: 15 to 240 (default 60).
- Buffer (minutes) either side: 0 to 120 (default 15), so you're never back-to-back.
- Notice (hours), how far ahead people must book: 0 to 336 (default 12).
- Price: Free or Pass or drop-in.

Your classes and the buffer around them are blocked out automatically (and classes themselves can't overlap the same teacher or room — see Classes and the schedule). Each teacher sets their own times.

Clients book on your public booking page under Private sessions: they tap Pick a time, choose a free slot, and sign in with an email code (the same as for classes). Paid privates use a pass or drop-in just like a paid class.

Running a studio

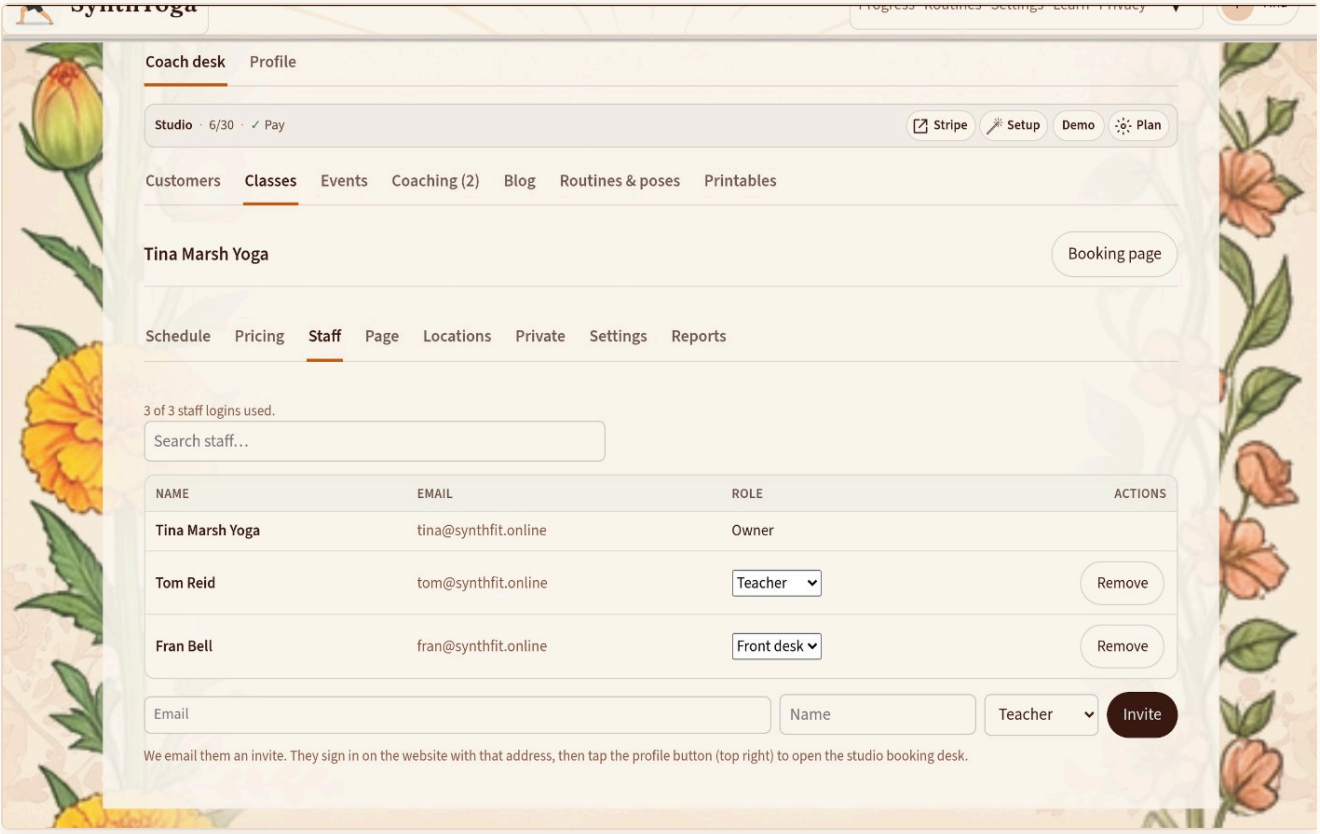

Solo teachers can skip this section.

Team roles

Invite staff on the Staff tab: enter their Email and Name, pick a role, and tap Invite.

- They get an email and sign in to the app with that address to see the desk.
- Invites show as Invited until accepted.
- Remove takes someone off your team.

Role	Can do
Owner	Everything, including Stripe, payouts and the plan
Manager	Everything else: schedule, staff, customers (including export and import), passes, policies and settings, refunds and free classes, reports
Teacher	Create, edit and cancel their own classes. See their rosters, check people in, add walk-ins and send home practice. Set their own private-session times.
Front desk	See every session's roster, check people in, Book in, add walk-ins and Remove. Sell a pass at the desk. View customer records and mark fees Paid or Waive.

Staff logins count you plus everyone invited, per studio: 1 on Starter (just you), 3 on Studio, unlimited on Unlimited and Studio Plus. The tab shows "2 of 3 staff logins used".

- If you move to a plan with fewer logins, the most recently added staff are paused first. They see "Your login is paused by the studio plan", and their classes and bookings stay.
- When you upgrade, paused staff come back automatically.

Locations and rooms

On the Locations tab, enter a Place name, Address, an optional Room and its Spots, then tap Add.

- Locations are capped by your teacher plan (1 on Starter, 3 on Studio, 12 on Unlimited, 50 on Studio Plus). See Your teacher plan.
- Clients see the place, room and address on your page and in their messages.
- Edit changes the name, address and rooms (one room per line as `name|spots`). Archive hides a place from new classes; upcoming classes keep the place text they already have.

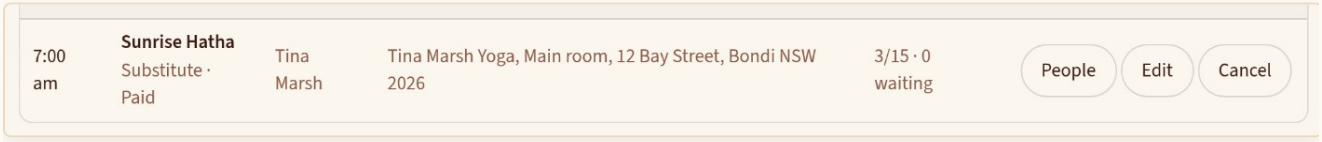

Schedule views

See the week filtered by Teacher or Room. Switch between List and Calendar with the toggle next to the filters. In calendar view, tap a class to open its roster, edit it, cancel it or set a substitute.

Substitutes

1. Open the session, tap Edit, choose the Substitute teacher, and tap Set substitute. You need more than one teacher on your staff.
2. The session shows Substitute on your schedule and "(substitute)" on your booking page.
3. Booked clients are told who's teaching instead. If they'd rather not come, they can cancel without a late fee, even inside your cancel window.

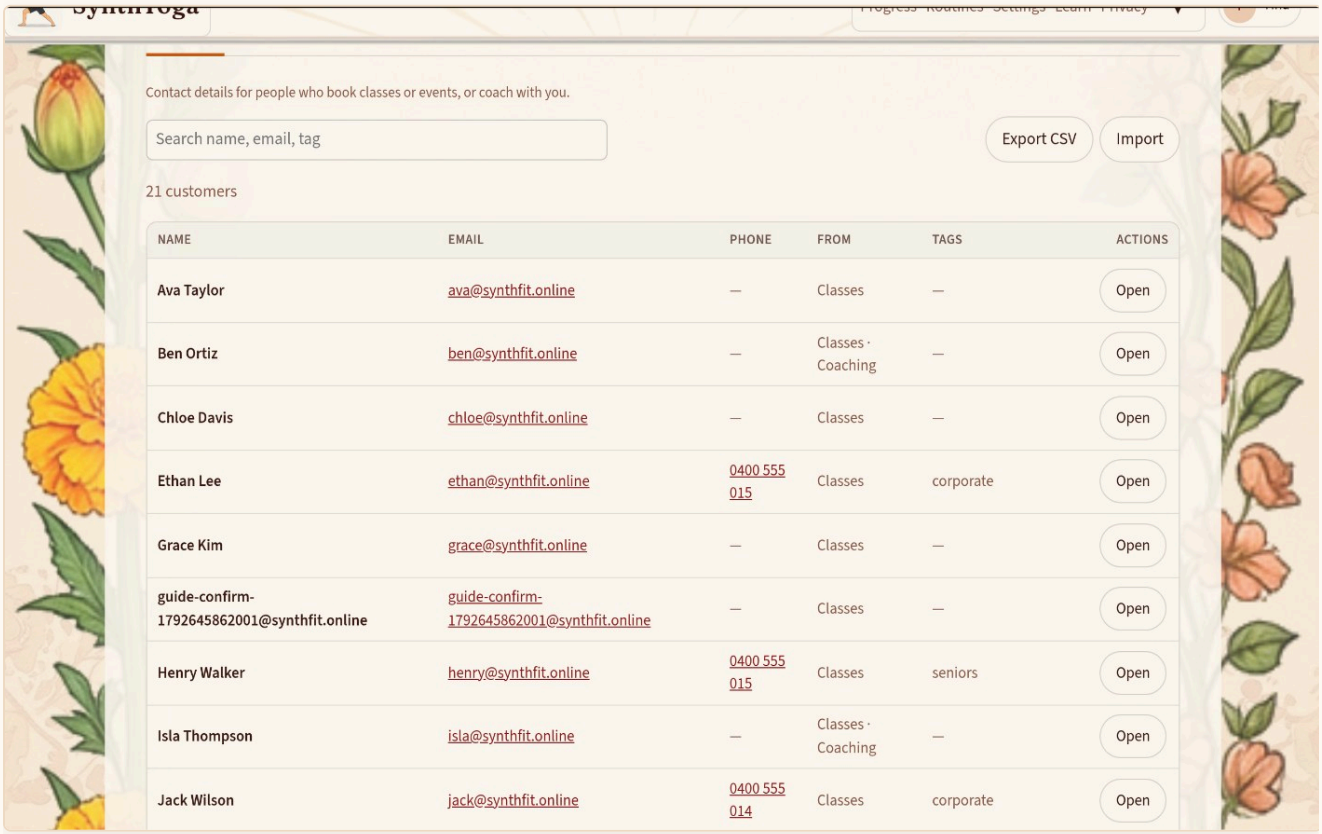

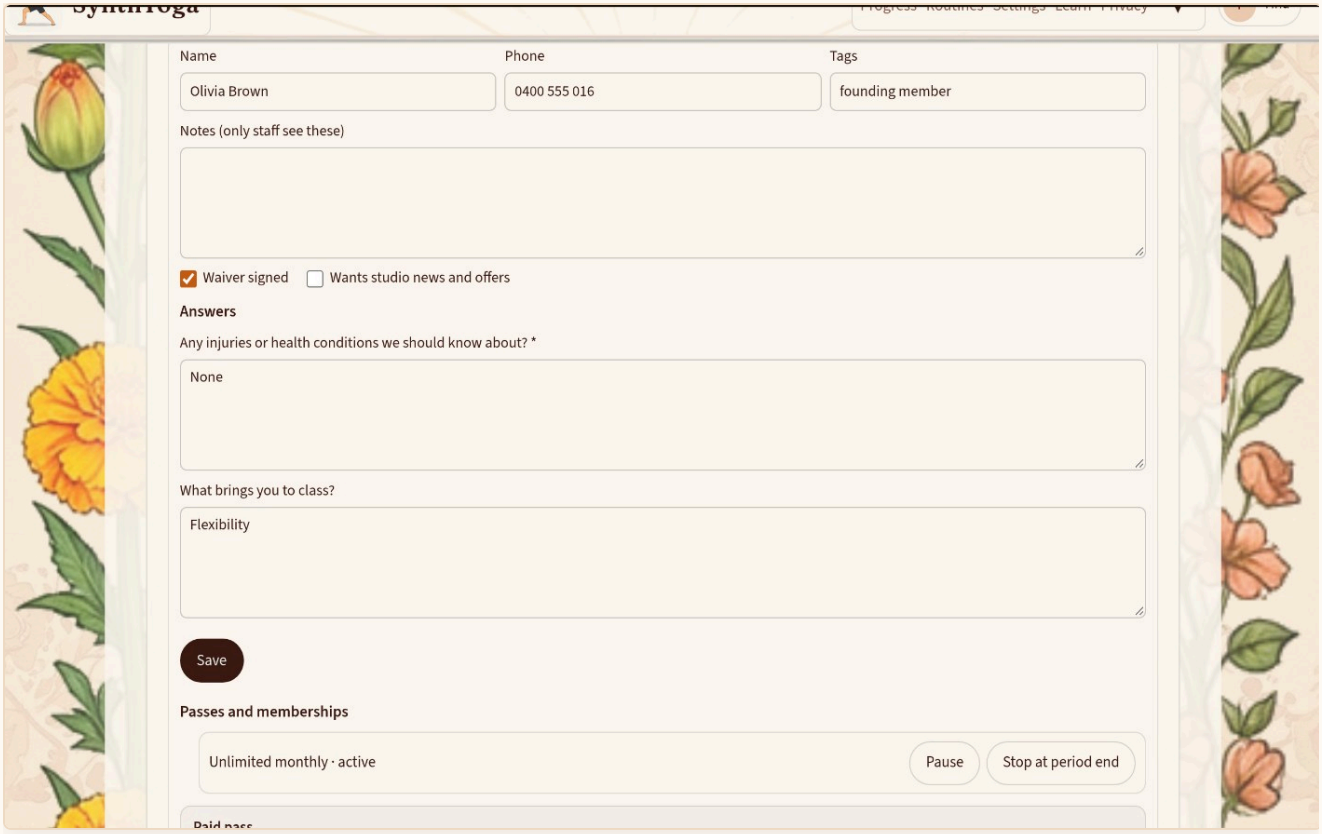

Your clients

Every person who books a class or event, or coaches with you, appears on the top-level Customers tab. On Customers:

- Search name, email, phone, tag finds people. Tags must match exactly. A From column shows Classes, Events and/or Coaching.
- Open a customer to see and edit:
  - Name and Phone (their email can't be changed);
  - Tags, comma-separated, for example "teacher training 2026, corporate";
  - Notes (only staff see these), for example injuries or preferences;
  - Waiver signed;
  - Wants studio news and offers (asked once when they book a class or buy a ticket; off by default);
  - Answers to your questions for new clients, if you ask any;
  - Passes and memberships, with classes left and expiry and how they were paid, plus Refund, Stop at period end, Pause / Resume, Undo sale, +1 / −1, Give free classes and Sell a pass;
  - Fees due, for late cancels and no-shows, with Paid and Waive;
  - Bookings: their recent history, including late cancels and no-shows.
- Export CSV downloads your whole list at any time. Your client list is yours to take with you. The file includes:
  - name, email, phone, tags and notes;
  - waiver status and waiver date;
  - marketing opt-in (`marketing_opt_in`);
  - when they joined, visit count and last visit;
  - classes left and membership;
  - a `customer_id` so other spreadsheets in the studio archive can join on it.

To book someone into a class, use Book in on that session's roster.

Reports

Classes → Reports shows charts and summaries for class attendance, teaching hours and revenue over the last 7, 30, 90 or 365 days, plus snapshot lists for outstanding credits, expiring passes and lapsed clients. Ticketed events have their own reports under Events → Reports (see Events).

- Attendance:
  - classes run, people who came, no-shows, late cancels, and how full classes ran overall (with a chart over the period);
  - the same per teacher in a labelled table;
  - free places taken by your coaching students and by class swap visitors.
- Teaching hours: classes in the period you pick, grouped by staff member, with scheduled minutes and hours for each class and a total per teacher. Use this when you pay teachers yourself — the app tracks hours only, not wages, rates or payouts. Export CSV gives one row per class (date, class, teacher, minutes, hours).
- Revenue: sales for each pass (chart + list), split into card sales and payments you recorded at the desk, with refunds. Free classes you gave and imported classes aren't included.
- Outstanding credits: every active class pack or drop-in with credits still left (bought, desk sale, imported or gifted). Totals show credits left, number of passes and clients. Memberships and event tickets are not listed. This list ignores the day selector.
- Expiring passes: clients with classes expiring in the next 30 days (this list ignores the day selector). Each row can Send offer — complimentary classes with a short validity, or a time-limited discounted payment link for a pass (card links expire within 24 hours).
- Lapsed and cancelled:
  - clients who came before but not in the last 30 days (fixed window), with the same Send offer actions;
  - memberships started, cancelled and active for the day range you pick.

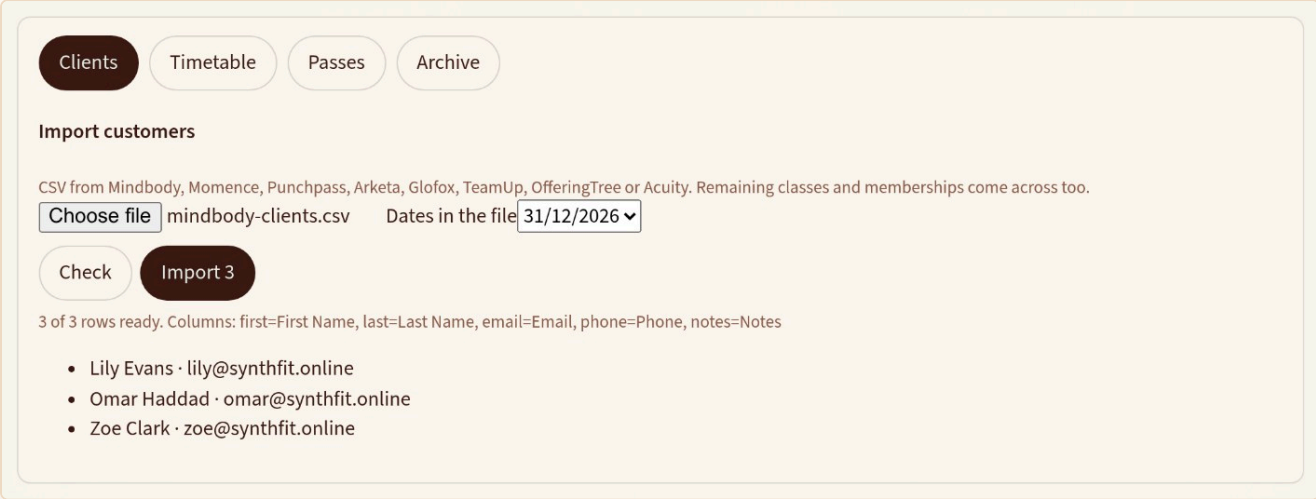

Export CSV downloads the report you're looking at, for the period you've picked, as a spreadsheet with one row per class, sale, pass or person. Times are in your studio's time zone. The attendance export has free_coaching and class_swaps columns. The revenue export lists every sale with the client, pass, whether it was paid by card or in person, the payment method, amount, currency and status, which is what your bookkeeper usually wants.

Ops and compliance

Moving from another booking system

If you use Mindbody, Momence, Punchpass, Arketa, Glofox, TeamUp, OfferingTree or Acuity (or a generic spreadsheet):

1. Export your client list as a CSV file from your current system, including remaining classes on passes if you can.
2. Open the top-level Customers tab, then Import.
3. Choose the file and how Dates in the file are written (31/12/2026 or 12/31/2026), then tap Check. The desk detects which system the file came from.
4. Check the preview ("120 of 124 rows ready") and tap Import.

Other tabs on Import:

- Timetable: an `.ics` calendar, a Google Calendar feed URL, or a schedule CSV. Repeating events become a series.
- Passes: a CSV with name, kind (`pack`, `dropin`, `membership`), price and classes.
- Archive: restore a SynthYoga ZIP into an empty studio (no bookings yet).

What happens on a client import:

- Columns: only an email column is required. Names, phone, remaining classes, expiry date, pass name, tags, notes, memberships, waiver dates and visit history are picked up if present, whatever your old system called them.
- Existing clients are updated, not duplicated, so you can safely import the same file twice.
- Remaining classes come across as a pass. Classes already past their expiry are dropped. Classes with no expiry date get 180 days.
- Memberships come across when the file has a membership column.
- Tags: every imported client is tagged "imported".

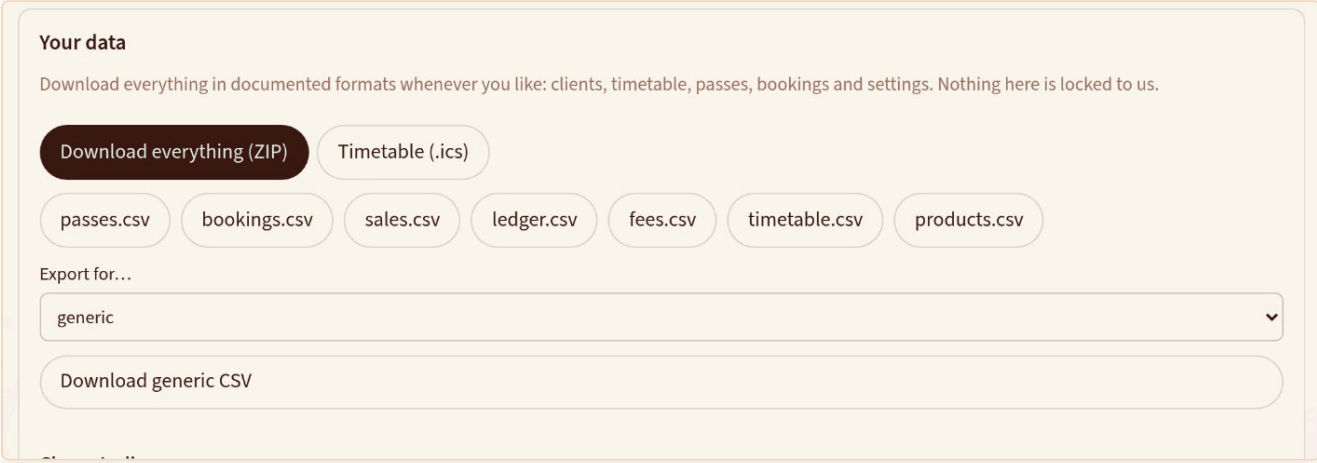

The next time an imported client books with their email, their classes are there. Send clients your new booking link, and you're running.

If you're stuck on the export, contact support and we'll help.

Your data (no lock-in)

Open Settings → Your data (managers and owners). Nothing here is locked to us. Formats are documented in docs/STUDIO_EXPORT_FORMAT.md.

- Download everything (ZIP) is a `synthyoga-studio/1` archive: clients, timetable, passes, bookings, sales, staff, locations, a repeating `.ics` calendar, and a README. Downloading it emails the owner, because it holds client details.
- Individual CSV files and a timetable .ics (with recurrence rules) are on the same screen.
- Export for… writes a CSV using the column names Mindbody, Momence, Punchpass, Arketa, Glofox, TeamUp, OfferingTree or Acuity typically expect, or a generic spreadsheet.
- Add to Google Calendar sits next to your class calendar link.
- Custom routines download as `open-yoga-routine/1` JSON from Builder, and Settings → Download my data packs your practice log, routines, coaching and listing into one ZIP.
- Close studio (owner) cancels upcoming classes, can email clients a new booking link, and permanently deletes the studio after 30 days. Download the archive first. Deleting your account purges studios you own immediately.

Privacy and service levels

Teachers and studios have a dedicated policy covering client data roles, retention, plan capacity and support:

- In the app: Privacy → Teacher and studio privacy & service levels, or open `/teacher-policy`
- Full text: TEACHER_PRIVACY_SLA.md

The main Privacy page (`/privacy`) also has a Privacy suite section covering coaching email, Drive/iCloud sync and related server use.

Clients and coaching students should use the general Privacy Policy (`/privacy`). You remain responsible for your own studio privacy notice where the law requires it.

Fees

Fee	Amount	Paid by
Teacher plan	Free, A$15, A$48 or A$96 a month (A$150, A$480 or A$960 a year)	You
Free class bookings	Nothing, on every plan	—
Free places for coaching students and class swaps	Nothing, on every plan	—
Platform fee on class passes	Starter: 1% of the price. Studio, Unlimited and Studio Plus: none.	You, or the client if you choose customers pay it
Platform fee on coaching subscriptions	Starter: 1%. Studio, Unlimited and Studio Plus: none.	You (taken from the payment)
Card processing	Stripe's standard rate for your Stripe account's country (see below)	You, billed by Stripe directly

Stripe's standard card rates for some common countries, from Stripe's published pricing, checked October 2026. Other countries are on Stripe's pricing page.

Your Stripe country	Cards from your country	Other cards
Australia	1.65% + A$0.30	3.5% + A$0.30
New Zealand	2.65% + NZ$0.30	3.5% + NZ$0.30
United States	2.9% + US$0.30	More; see Stripe
Canada	2.9% + CA$0.30	More; see Stripe
United Kingdom	1.5% + £0.20	More; see Stripe
Ireland	1.5% + €0.25 (cards from the EEA)	More; see Stripe
Singapore	3.4% + S$0.50	More; see Stripe

- Passing the Starter fee on (class passes only): in Settings → Policies, set Platform fee to customers pay it.
  - The 1% shows as a separate "Booking fee" line at checkout. For example, a A$25 drop-in shows to the client as A$25 plus a A$0.25 booking fee.
  - Memberships carry the booking fee on every payment.
  - The Pricing tab shows your current fee and setting.
- Changing the setting applies to new sales. Memberships already running keep the setting they started with.
- Refunds on Starter: a Refund from the desk returns the 1% fee to you along with the client's money.
- GST: you're the seller, so GST on your sales is yours to handle, the same as with any other payment method.
- No contracts, setup fees or extras. Cancel or change your plan any time.

Deleting your account

Settings → Delete your account now (type DELETE to confirm) removes your account in every app.

It does:

- end all your coaching relationships and stop your students' card subscriptions at the end of their current period;
- remove your teacher listings and student plans;
- cancel upcoming bookings at your studios without penalty;
- close your studios and free up your booking page link;
- clear clients' contact details and notes from your customer records.

It doesn't:

- cancel your own teacher plan. Cancel it first, on the web or in the store where you bought it.
- cancel memberships your clients pay your studio. Use Stop at period end on each one first, or cancel them in your Stripe dashboard.
- close your Stripe account. It's yours, and stays open with its payment history.

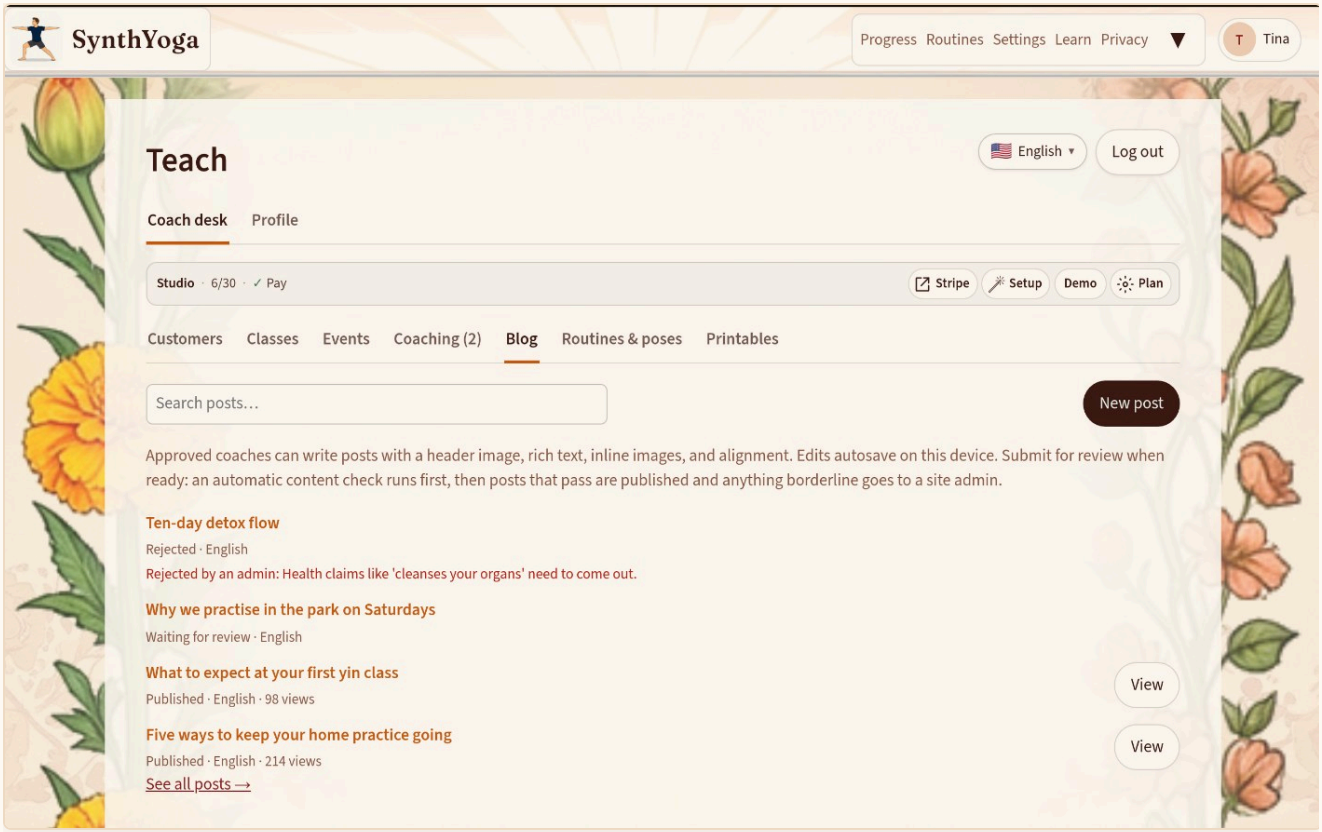

Content and printables

Your blog

Approved teachers can write blog posts from the Blog tab. Posts appear on your profile, in the app's blog, and on the Progress page for students who follow you (when they are signed in).

- Limits:
  - a title of up to 160 characters;
  - a summary of up to 600 characters;
  - a body of up to 1,000 words;
  - about 8 photos per post;
  - 50 MB of hosted images in total. Images are never deleted, so this doesn't free up.
- Content check: every post gets an automatic content check before it's published.
  - Pass: published straight away.
  - Borderline: shows Waiting for review until a person checks it. You can keep editing.
  - Fail: not published, and you're told why.
- Check limits: each post is checked at most once a day, and you get at most 5 checks in any 24 hours. A version that has to wait shows "Waiting for the daily content check, around [time]"; you can keep editing until then.
- Admin review: a site admin can reject a post, with a reason shown under it ("Rejected by an admin: …"). Rejected posts stay editable: fix them and tap Resubmit for review. An admin can also disable a published post, for example after readers flag it; it's then hidden and locked.
- Published posts can't be edited. Write a new post instead.
- Drafts are saved on your device as you type ("Saved on this device"). Your Blog tab lists every post with its state: Not sent yet, Needs changes, Waiting for the daily check, Waiting for review, Published (with its view count), Rejected or Disabled.

Writing a post. Add a Header image (choose a photo or paste an image link), then write with headings, bold, italics, links, lists, tables, images in the text and text alignment. Tap Submit for review when it's ready.

Language. A post is tagged with the language your app is set to when you write it. Readers see posts in their own language first, and can tap Show posts in all languages to see the rest. Readers can tap Translate to read a post in their language; it's translated on their device (a one-off download of about 30 MB on phones, and built into desktop Chrome). Write in the language most of your students read.

What readers can do. Readers see your posts on your profile and in the app's blog, where they can see all your posts (Posts by you), Like a post (you can't like your own) and Flag Content to send a post to the admins with a reason.

Open pose library and contributing

Optional: contribute pose refinements to the open library.

The Yoga app's 3D poses are published as open data at github.com/syntithenai/open-yoga-poses, with a searchable 3D viewer at syntithenai.github.io/open-yoga-poses. About 290 poses are there, on four bodies, along with a catalog of names, the keyframed moves between some poses, and some example routines.

What's open and what isn't:

- Open: the pose data, bodies, catalog, moves and routines are under CC BY-SA 4.0. The viewer code is under the MIT licence.
- Free but not open source: the SynthYoga app itself, and the teaching and booking tools in this guide.

Using the poses. You can use the poses in your own handouts, slides, websites, apps or research, commercially or not. Credit "Open Yoga Poses contributors" with a link to the repository, and share any changes to the data under the same licence.

Helping refine them. Teachers know the details we got wrong, and corrections are credited and stay open for everyone.

- Suggest a fix: every pose in the Yoga app has a Suggest a fix on GitHub link below it. It opens a short form; no coding is needed. You need a free GitHub account. A 3D edit is optional on this path.
- Fix it in the viewer: in the online viewer, press Edit the 3D body, click a joint and drag the rings to turn it, then press Suggest this edit. The form opens with your 3D change attached, so we can apply it exactly. You can shape the move between two poses the same way under Moves. Edits are saved in your browser until you send them.
- Add a pose or routine: use the New pose or New routine forms in the repository. Routines use a short documented format (pose ids, holds, sides and spoken cues), described in the repository's `docs/FORMAT.md`.
- Edit a pose in the app: in the pose editor, Submit to admins sends your copy to our review queue and opens a GitHub issue on the open library. A 3D body shape is required. You confirm CC BY-SA 4.0 first. Your email identifies you as the submitter on our side (and on your teacher page); the public issue credits your name only. Teaching fields included: names, Sanskrit, category, tags, discipline, difficulty, description, good-for, breath and alignment cues, props, modifications, deepen / avoid / common mistakes, hold times, and keyframed moves. Photos stay private to admins.
- Import your submissions: under My poses in the Builder, Import submissions pulls pose edits tied to your signed-in email back into editable copies (and prefers the published open-library 3D when that pose has already been merged).
- Your teacher page lists open-pose contributions matched to your listing email.
- Teacher trainings: the library works well as a group exercise. Trainees study each pose in 3D, then suggest corrections or contribute a pose.

What to know before relying on it:

- The poses were fitted from photos and refined by hand, so some details will be off. Corrections are especially welcome.
- Changes are reviewed before they're merged, and merged changes come back into the Yoga app in a later update.

- Contributions are made under the same CC BY-SA 4.0 licence. You keep your copyright, and the history credits you.

Printables

Coach desk → Printables makes A4 handouts from your live studio and library data. Colours follow the design template you pick under Classes → Settings (toned down for print). Each live sheet includes a QR code and link. The SynthYoga template adds pre-made marketing PDFs (student flyer, practice sheet, teacher sheet and this teaching guide).

Template	What it shows
Teacher profile	Listing name, photo, about text and contacts. Studios with more than one teacher can pick who appears; studio name, design template and booking QR stay on the sheet. Coaching-invite QR only when the sheet is yours and coaching is on.
Event	One upcoming ticketed event with flyer art across the top, plus date, place and description; QR opens your booking page filtered to events. A sample event is included for preview until you create your own.
Regular class	A recurring class series with its weekly rhythm and next date; QR filtered to classes.
Upcoming schedule	The next few weeks of classes and events on one sheet; choose Full or Compact layout; QR to your booking page.
Routine	One of your custom routines with sections and hold times; choose One page (fits what it can) or All pages (prints the full routine across A4 pages without cutting pose tiles); QR opens a shareable routine link (or your Builder when the routine is too large to encode).
Pose	A pose from My poses or the Library, with a large photo (or a 3D capture), breath and alignment cues; QR opens it in the library. Use the ▾ control on the Pose template to open a rotatable 3D preview, pick style and character, then Use this view for the printable.
Blog	One of your posts with image, summary and opening text; QR opens the post in the app.
SynthYoga	Pre-made marketing PDFs: a student flyer for the noticeboard, a practice sheet for students (open poses, no bookings), a teacher sheet (students + teachers + community), or this teaching guide. Save or open to print.

Pick a template, choose the item when needed, then Save PDF or Print. Use Copy link for the same URL in email or social posts. For booking sheets, publish your booking page first so the QR opens it.

When clients ask...

Booking without an account

1. The client opens your page and taps Book on a class.
2. They enter their email and tap Send code.
3. They type the 6-digit code from the email (valid for 10 minutes) and tap Continue. The page may also show a quick "are you human" check.
4. They're booked, with an Add to calendar button. If the class is full, they're told their place on the waitlist.
5. For a paid class without a pass, the page says "Choose how to pay:" with a button for each pass. They pay by card on Stripe's checkout page, then come back booked.
6. If you have a waiver, they read it and accept it before their first booking.
7. If you ask for a mobile number (see Mobile number on booking), they enter it once, before their first booking or purchase.
8. Studio news and offers: they see a checkbox (unchecked by default) asking if they want to be contacted. Their choice is stored on the customer record and in CSV export.
9. If you ask questions (see Questions for new clients), they answer them once, before their first booking or purchase.

The browser remembers them for 30 days, so they don't need a code every time. Their Your bookings list on your page shows Cancel, Confirm spot for a waitlist offer, and a link to subscribe to their bookings in their calendar.

If a client later signs in to the app with the same email, their bookings and passes appear there automatically.

Booking in the app

Students must be signed in to see your schedule on Progress and to book in the app.

1. Classes lists upcoming sessions From teachers you follow (and ticketed events separately when present).
2. Free sessions: Register or Join waitlist.
3. Paid sessions when they already have cover (pass, membership, coaching free place, or class swap): Claim Booking.
4. Paid sessions without cover: they use your booking page (Pay at … / Buy ticket for events).
5. Each class card can show Follow / Following so they can follow you while browsing.

Progress (signed in):

- Upcoming classes and events (next two weeks) from teachers they follow and teachers who coach them (active coaching). Booking alone does not add your schedule here.
- From your coach shows open assignments with Start.
- Blog: recent posts from teachers they follow when those teachers have posts; otherwise the newest published posts app-wide.

My Bookings (`/bookings` , linked from Classes and Progress — not a Classes submenu):

- Upcoming bookings first; Show past for history.
- Statuses: Booked; Waitlist #2; "A spot opened: confirm it"; Attended, No-show or Late cancel; Cancelled by the teacher.
- Actions: Confirm spot, Cancel booking, Leave waitlist, Book more; plus Passes and memberships.
- Reminders: Add my bookings to my calendar; Turn on class reminders; per-studio reminder switches.

Calendars

Every calendar entry has an alert an hour before class.

- Your class calendar: Subscribe to the class calendar on your booking page, or the Class calendar link in Settings. Clients see your next 90 days of classes in their own calendar, and it keeps itself up to date. Your directory profile also has Apple or Outlook and Google Calendar buttons.
- A booking's calendar file: sent with the confirmation email and on the Add to calendar button.

- A personal calendar link keeps every booking a client has up to date in their calendar, including cancellations.

Cancelling

Clients cancel from Your bookings on your page, or from My bookings in the app.

- Before your cancel window closes, their class credit goes back to their pass.
- Inside the window, the app warns them first: "this counts as a late cancel and the class won't be refunded". Your late-cancel rule then applies.

Google and Apple logins

You can coach and run bookings with Google or Apple. Assignment emails go out by email. Students who use Apple need a contact email so mail can reach them (Apple's private relay is fine when they shared it). To approve some Apple-account students you may need an Apple login linked under Settings → Premium App → Linked accounts (the app asks when that is required).

	Google	Apple
Teach and booking (website and app)	Yes	Yes (enter a contact email on first save; Hide My Email is fine)
Practice sync	Google Drive on web, Android and iOS	iCloud Drive on iPhone/iPad only
Practice sync on the website	Yes, with Drive	Off — switch to Google under Settings → Cloud Sync to back up routines and history
Premium and teacher plan	Follow this login	Follow this login

Linked accounts. Under Settings → Premium App → Linked accounts, link Google and Apple so Premium and your teacher plan follow either login. Practice data stays with each login until you migrate it.

Moving practice between accounts. Settings → Cloud Sync → Move data between accounts copies sessions and journal entries from another Google or Apple login (or from signed-out use on this device) into the account you're using now. Sessions already in both are kept once; you can undo for 7 days. Optionally delete the source copy afterwards.

Premium for you and your students

Premium is an optional one-off A$10 unlock that people keep for life in SynthYoga. Nobody needs Premium to be coached, follow your assigned routines, book classes or export their data.

The main extras are themes and costumes — every UI theme and every costume for the 3D guide (free keeps a short starter set, including the Hindu theme).

Also with Premium:

- Practice Together for up to 6 phones (free is 2, host included);
- unlimited live pose feedback (free is 3 sessions a week);
- casting to a TV;
- extra reminders, digests and progress charts.

People can also earn Premium by practising: streaks earn short Premium passes, and practice-day milestones unlock costumes, themes and eventually Premium for good.

Premium included with your plan

On Studio and Unlimited, these people get Premium free while the arrangement lasts:

- Coaching students who pay you: either offline, or by a Stripe subscription that is up to date.
- Members: clients with an active membership at your studio, bought while signed in to the app.

Not included:

- complimentary (free) coaching students;
- students who haven't made their first card payment yet;
- students whose payment is overdue;
- guests who bought a membership without an app account.

Premium included this way ends when the coaching or membership ends, a payment lapses, or you move to Starter. A student who wants to keep it for good can buy the one-off unlock.

How we compare

Prices are from each company's own website, checked in October 2026, and are in US dollars unless marked A$. Where a US price is shown as A$ below, it is converted at about A$1 = US$0.69 (RBA mid-October 2026). Card processing (about 2 to 3%) applies on top of every system's pricing, including ours.

System	Monthly price	Fee on your sales	Free plan	Staff	Good to know
Us	Free, A$15, A$48 or A$96 (yearly: A$150, A$480 or A$960)	1% on Starter; none on paid plans	Yes	1, 3 or unlimited	Every feature on every plan. Free classes cost nothing. Coaching and home practice built in. Never shows competitors.
Mindbody	A$89, A$279 or A$369 per location	20% of a new client's first purchase (up to $30) when the Mindbody app finds them	No	Unlimited	Its consumer app lists other studios alongside yours.

What a typical month costs. Take a solo teacher selling A$3,000 a month of classes, before card processing (about A$1 = US$0.69):

System	Cost a month	Source (checked Oct 2026)
Us, Starter	A$30 (1% fee), or A$0 if passed on to clients; Stripe processing on top (1.65% + A$0.30 for Australian cards)	SynthYoga Starter
Us, Studio plan	A$15 (A$12.50 if paid yearly)	SynthYoga Studio
Junocal Starter	about A$22	US$15/mo (junocal.com/pricing)
OfferingTree Pro	about A$85	US$59/mo monthly (offeringtree.com/pricing); US$49/mo if billed annually
Mindbody Go	A$89, plus fees on new clients from the Mindbody app	A$89/mo AU (mindbodyonline.com)
Punchpass Grow	about A$85 (A$143 for memberships)	Grow US$59/mo; Flow US$99/mo for memberships (punchpass.com/pricing)
Arketa Individual	about A$71 plus A$90 in fees = about A$161	US$49/mo billed annually + 3% on sales (arketa.com/pricing)

System	Cost a month	Source (checked Oct 2026)
TeamUp	A$179 or more	A$179/mo for up to 100 active clients (goteamup.com/pricing)

Of the systems above, ours is the lowest-cost booking system we could find for running classes, based on these published prices (checked October 2026). Momence and Glofox don't publish prices, so we couldn't compare them directly.

What only we offer:

- Free community classes in a full class booking system, on every plan. Free classes cost nothing to run, with the same booking page, waitlists and reminders as paid ones. (Humanitix doesn't charge for free events either, but it doesn't do class packs, memberships or client history.)
- An open pose library. The Yoga app's 3D poses are open data (CC BY-SA 4.0) that you and your students can help refine. See Open pose library and contributing.
- Home practice after class: send your coaching students the routine you taught, with voice cues and an animated guide.
- Coaching: one-to-one coaching (assignments, programs and shared practice data) in the same app as your bookings.
- Class swaps between coaching teachers. Your coaching students can take free classes with other teachers in the network, and theirs with you, up to 2 a month each.
- A free plan that takes payments, with every booking feature. Its 1% fee on class passes can be passed on to the client. Free classes are unlimited and cost nothing. (Junocal's Free plan also takes card payments, but adds a 4% fee, caps free or externally paid bookings at 50 a month, and keeps packs and memberships on paid plans.)
- Every feature on every plan. You don't upgrade to unlock waitlists, late-cancel fees, packs, memberships or reminders.

Questions and answers

Can I sell workshops separately from regular classes? Yes. Use Coach desk → Events for ticketed workshops and one-offs. Each event has its own ticket (class packs don't cover it). Regular weekly classes stay under Classes. See Events.

Do my clients need the app? No. They can book from your page with just an email address and a code. The app adds a history of their bookings across studios, passes in one place, home practice and (soon) notifications.

Do class clients use my coaching seats? No. Seats only count coaching students: people you coach one-to-one.

Can I run classes on the free plan? Yes. Every booking feature works on Starter, including paid classes. Free classes cost nothing. Card sales carry a 1% fee, which you can pass on to the client for class passes.

Do you run online classes? No. The booking system is for in-person classes. One-to-one coaching through the app works wherever your students are.

I cancelled a class. Why didn't my clients get their money back? Cancelling returns each client's class credit to their pass (see Credits vs refunds). If someone wants their money back instead, use Refund on their customer record.

Can I take cash or bank transfer for classes? Yes. Use Sell a pass on the client's record (or the prompt when you add a walk-in), choose the pass and how they paid, and tap Record payment. It shows in your revenue report as an in-person sale, with no platform fee. See Selling at the desk.

Will I be told when someone books? Not by message. Check the schedule, where each session shows how many are booked and waiting, or open the roster.

Can I change a coaching student from free to paying? Not from the desk yet. End coaching, ask them to request again, and approve them with the payment type you want.

How do I change the price of a student plan or a pass? Stop offering (or stop selling) the old one and create a new one. People already paying keep their price.

Can my coaching students come to my classes free? Yes. Tick My coaching students come to my paid classes free in Settings. It covers your paid classes, on every plan. See Coaching ↔ classes.

What's a class swap, and what does it cost me? A free place in one of your paid classes for a student coached by another teacher who offers swaps too. You choose how many to give a month. It costs nothing to run; in return, your own coaching students can take up to 2 free classes a month with other teachers in the network. Students who sign in with Apple need to book in the app to use one.

Can other teachers see my clients? No. Your client list, notes and payments are visible only to you and the staff you invite.

Will my booking page advertise other teachers? No, never.

Is the app open source? No. SynthYoga is free, but only the 3D pose library is open: its pose data is CC BY-SA 4.0 and its viewer code is MIT. See Open pose library and contributing.

Who handles payment disputes? You're the seller, so card disputes are handled in your own Stripe dashboard, the same as any Stripe business.

What happens if I drop back to Starter?

- Your classes, booking page and everything clients have bought keep working. Passes stay valid until they're used or expire, and memberships keep running.
- Card payments from then on carry the 1% fee, including membership and student subscription renewals.
- Staff logins beyond your own are paused.
- Your students and members lose the Premium included with your plan.
- Coaching students you already have stay. While you're over Starter's ten seats for free or offline-paid coaching students, you can only approve new ones who pay by Stripe subscription.

Is Unlimited really unlimited? Yes for coaching students and staff. Bookings and locations are capped on every plan (Starter 1,000 / 1; Studio 3,000 / 3; Unlimited 10,000 / 12; Studio Plus 50,000 / 50). The desk warns you before you hit them; new bookings and new locations pause at the cap until you upgrade or the month resets.

Is it cheaper to sign up on the web? The price is the same on the web. The App Store and Google Play charge their own price for your region, which can differ slightly. Signing up at synthfit.online lets you manage your plan on the web through Stripe.

What if a client books with someone else's email? Bookings need a code sent to that email address, and the booking page has bot protection, so fake bookings are blocked.
